Villagers' concerns over loss of identity

PROTESTERS claim their villages will lose their individual identities if a controversial plan to build more than 140 homes goes ahead. They say the development would 'join together' Great Wyrley and Cheslyn Hay and are furious that the scheme would remove the last piece of green space separating the two parishes.

More than 800 people have already signed a petition against the development and SOS - Save Our Space - posters have gone up around the area.

Lacking

Builder Ken Lees, who runs Cannock-based KGL Estates, has applied to South Staffordshire Council to build 141 homes on green belt land off Landywood Lane. The scheme also provides for a park-and-ride scheme to serve the railway station. A new health centre, care home and allotments are also planned.

Great Wyrley parish councillor Ron Myatt said: "It is inappropriate and lacking in judgment and discretion."

Glenis Priest, of Landywood Lane, said: "It would join together the two villages and they would lose their identities."

Mr Lees said concerns would be addressed at the special meetings at the end of September.

Jaw broken in street attack

A MAN had his jaw broken after being punched in Burntwood.

The attack happened in James Hutchins Court, a cul-de-sac near Queen Street, Chasetown between 9 and 10pm on Saturday, August 31.

The victim received hospital treatment and is now recovering at home. The attacker wore a white top and grey tracksuit bottoms.

Police are appealing for witnesses. Call Burton CID on 01785 235933, or 101 quoting reference number 147.

Graduates ready to start work at supermarket chain

Councillors Diane Todd and Carl Bennett with Tesco graduates

SEVENTY two previously unemployed people have been offered jobs at the new Tesco store in Rugeley after completing a 10-week training course.

Councillors have handed out certificates to the successful applicants, who will begin work at the store when it opens at the end of this month.

Over the past 12 months, Cannock Chase District Council has been working with Tesco and JobCentre Plus to ensure that new Tesco developments in Hed-nesford and Rugeley offer employment opportunities to benefit the local community.

Councillor Diane Todd, Portfolio Leader for Town Centre Regeneration said: "We are delighted to support the Tesco Partnership Scheme to get local people back into work and happy to work with Tesco and JobCentre Plus to help make this happen."

"The new Tesco in Rugeley will not only be a major boost for the town but has also helped with unemployment in the area." As a result of the Tesco's Partnership scheme, more than 160 previously unemployed people have secured jobs with the supermarket chain and more than 50 of these jobs have been taken by those aged 24 or younger."

Simon Petar, corporate affairs manager for Tesco said: "Our regeneration partnership is a sign of our commitment to investing in communities in this difficult economic climate."

Appeal by church to remember ex-miners

THE 20th anniversary of a village pit closure is to be marked by a special stained glass window at the church where many former miners worshipped.

St Thomas's in Huntingdon is launching a fund to raise £15,000 to pay for the window.

Littleton Colliery, the last deep mine in the county, shut for the last time in 1993 with the loss of more than 600 jobs.

Rev Denis Sunley, of St Thomas's Church said the pit still held a big presence in the local community.

Mr Sunley said: "It's a big target for a small church like ours but money has already started coming in."

Exhibits

The fund will be officially launched on Saturday, September 14, with an exhibition of old photographs and memorabilia at the church on the A34 Stafford Road.

Some exhibits are being loaned by The Museum of Cannock Chase in Hednesford. The church is also appealing for other items or pictures people may have relating to the colliery. Parishioners plan to sell campaign merchandise to help boost the fund.

The memorabilia display will be extended until the Sunday with a special mining service at 10.30am.

Work to start on fire station

DESIGN plans for the new Community Fire Station in Rugeley will be showcased at a drop-in session next week.

The blueprint for the facility, one of 11 being funded through a £45m Private Finance Initiative, will be displayed on Wednesday, September 11.

Residents can call into the existing fire station on Bryans Lane between 6pm-8pm to talk to the construction team about the work programme.

Work on the new Community Fire Station will start next month.

GIPSY SITE PLAN GIVEN THE BOOT

CONTROVERSIAL plans for a permanent gypsy site on green belt land in Penkridge have been thrown out by a council's planning committee.

Members of South Staffordshire Council's regulatory committee had been advised to approve the plans for six gypsy caravans to stay permanently on land off the A449.

By Adam Thompson

But councillors went against the recommendations of officers and threw out the plans at a meeting on Tuesday night. And they insisted the decision was correct one, with one councillor stating: 'not one of the 10,000 people who live in Penkridge want that site there'.

Since 1990 villagers have been battling to preserve the green belt land.

In 2011 the Secretary of State overturned South Staffordshire Council's decision to refuse an application by the Lee family to live on the land, off Wolverhampton Road.

Against

The secretary then granted a temporary site which expires in December 2014.

Councillor Donald Cartwright, who represents the west of the village, said: "When I saw the recommendation from the report for approval, I couldn't believe my eyes."

"The five councillors of this village are all against this recommendation. That includes the parish council, the village and everyone in particular. "Everyone of the 10,000 people who live in Penkridge don't want that site there."

Councillor Mac Harris said during the meeting that the authority should be looking at sites that are appropriate for gypsy families, insisting the current situation is like 'the horse pushing the wagon'.

Speaking after the decision, campaigners said they were pleased with the outcome.

Penkridge parish councillor Calvert Stonehouse said: "This is something we have fought against as far back as 1990. This is the right decision for Penkridge."

"People who don't know the area may see it as a useless bit of land but it is a gateway into the village and a gypsy site shouldn't be there."

"It's green belt land. It has had its uses because I remember when it was used for cattle."

"I haven't met a single person who has supported the application and you'd be hard pushed to find anyone in Penkridge who does."

Pub kicks off charity weekend

The fun starts on Saturday afternoon with a Man v Food challenge, a cake sale, face painting and raffle with the top prize a hot air balloon ride over the Chase.

Andrew Johnston, manager at the Market Place pub, will be having his chest waxed, while staff member Victoria Morgan will undergo a head shave.

On Sunday, Wether-spoon's pubs from around the country will then do battle on the football field to help boost the coffers.

Campaigner's fears on badger cull

A WILDLIFE campaigner says the controversial badger cull will not prevent the spread of tuberculosis and could result in farmers being accidentally shot.

Farmers in Somerset and Gloucestershire have been given permission to shoot up to 80 badgers a night in a pilot scheme to stop the disease spreading to livestock.

But Faye Burton, founder of the Rural Policing Liaison Group, said the idea was 'unscientific' and that efforts should instead be focused on vaccinations. She said: "It is appalling. Even if they killed all the badgers in the UK there would still be TB here. They are just making a scapegoat. Dogs carry it, foxes carry it. In my 42 years of dealing with badgers I have never come across a badger that's got TB.

"I can't understand why farmers are saying that vaccination won't do any good, because it will. It will slow down the process. If we don't listen to the scientists we are on a slippery slope."

Environment secretary Owen Patterson argues it would take at least another decade to develop a 'workable' vaccine for the disease, which is said to affect around 38,000 cattle every year. In a letter to members, National Farmers' Union President Peter Kendall said many had 'suffered the misery of dealing with TB on-farm' for decades.

Ms Burton said she wanted to support farmers, but added she also worried unskilled shooters could injure or even kill people walking at night.

She said: "We have people out there doing night-walking and night patrols and I am really concerned someone will get shot in this campaign."

Trust facing action over diabetic patient's death

THE trust which runs Stafford Hospital is to be prosecuted over a patient who died after entering a diabetic coma - but individual nurses will face no legal action.

Gillian Astbury, aged 66, of Hednesford, died at Stafford Hospital in 2007. She was denied insulin for 48 hours and fell into a diabetic coma.

Appeal over composting is made by councillors

COUNCILLORS in Cannock have launched a composting appeal thanks to the hottest summer since 2006.

The higher than average temperatures combined with occasional heavy downpours has caused a surge in plant growth and a subsequent abundance of garden waste.

Cannock Chase District Council has now joined with Staffordshire Recycling Partnership to offer residents the chance to buy a subsidised compost bin for £16.98. The recommended retail price is £39.

The waste will rot down over the winter months to produce a nutrient-rich compost supply.

Councillor Carl Bennett, environment leader, said: "Home composting provides an effective and sustainable way of reducing the amount of waste sent to landfill."

"Using a home compost bin will ensure that brown wheelite bins are not over-filled. If people start composting now, by spring next year they will have nutritious soil conditioner that will enrich their plants for the next year."

To buy a compost bin, visit www.staffs.getcompos.org

The Health and Safety Executive (HSE) has now said there is enough evidence to bring criminal proceedings against Mid Staffordshire NHS Foundation Trust over the death.

However, they say they will pursue no further action against senior staff nurse Ann King and ward manager Jeannette Coulson who were last month found guilty of misconduct over Ms Astbury's treatment by the Nursing and Midwifery Council.

An inquest into Ms Astbury's death recorded a narrative verdict but found a failure to administer insulin amounted to a gross failure to provide basic care.

Effective

Peter Galsworthy, HSE head of operations in the West Midlands, said: "Our case alleges that the trust failed to devise, implement or properly manage structured and effective systems of communication for sharing patient information, including in relation to shift handovers and record-keeping."

The HSE will be charging the trust under Section 3(1) of the Health and Safety at Work Act.

The first hearing will be held at Stafford Magistrates Court on October 9.

Trust chief executive Maggie Oldham said: "We accept the findings of the Health and Safety Executive's investigation."

"We apologise for the appalling care Ms Astbury received at our hospital in April 2007."

Headstone of mascot Freda has new home

A HEADSTONE marking the final resting place of loyal wartime mascot Freda has been given a new home in New Zealand.

The harlequin Great Dane was the faithful friend of the New Zealand Rifle Brigade during the First World War and was based with the men at Brocton Camp.

She died in December 1918 and was buried on Cannock Chase. Today, Freda's grave continues to be a focus for commemoration on Armistice Day and Anzac Day on the Chase.

Transferred

Thanks to permission from the Friends of Cannock Chase, the county council has carefully transferred a flat concrete headstone, erected in the 1940s but replaced as part of a Millennium project, to RAF Brize Norton. From there, it was flown to its new home at the New Zealand National Army Museum.

Chairman of the Friends of Cannock Chase June Jukes MBE said: "We wanted New Zealand to share more in the story of this remarkable Great Dane and are delighted it will have a new home there."

Crews tackle run challenge

FIREFIGHTERS will pass through Cannock and Penkridge during a sponsored run inspired by hit movie Forrest Gump.

The crew from Tamworth's Belgrave Community Fire Station are organising the Gump Challenge, which will see participants running more than 250 miles from September 11 to 19, setting off at 9am each day.

Runners and walkers will be able to join the group as it journeys from one fire station to another. Money raised will be split between The Firefighters' Charity and Children in Need.

Blaze in kitchen

A BLAZE broke out in the kitchen of a Hednesford home. Firefighters from Cannock and Rugeley tackled the blaze at the property in Blake Close, off Burgoyne Street on Thursday, August 29. Crews isolated the gas and electricity supplies before leaving the house just after 2pm.

Eatery to launch at old pub

A FORMER pub in Cannock town centre being transformed into a £200,000 restaurant is reopening to the public on September 20.

Twenty new jobs have been created at The Podge and Tin, formerly The Fern and Fallow.

Bosses say the 80-seater restaurant will pride itself on serving British food and have a gourmet style menu.

Brothers Jess and Raj Bhandal are behind the venture.

Jess said: "Fresh, local ingredients are becoming increasingly important so we are excited to be launching a restaurant which celebrates this."

"We are going for a rustic, organic look."

There will be a launch night at the restaurant on September 18, before it reopens to the public two days later.

All the money raised over the two days will go to the charity Help for Heroes. A raffle will be held with the top prize being a flat screen TV.

The Fern and Fallow went up for sale in January.

It was bought by Bobby Bhandal, the father of Jess and Raj. The new business will also have a takeaway outlet.

New clothes store opens

A NEW clothes store has opened up in Cannock town centre, filling a much-needed gap in the market, according to its owner.

Mother-of-one Alex Myles was selling clothes online before opening up her Enchanted Wardrobe store within the centre's InShops complex. She says business has been brisk since she took over the vacant Lucy's Cards unit.

"In these times of recession, people want affordable, high-quality fashion and that's what we provide. There was a definite need for it in the town," she said.

Road resurface

RESURFACING work to a main road near Cannock starts next Monday (September 9). Improving the A0462 Warstone Road near M6 Junction 11 is due to last for seven weeks. Temporary traffic signals will be in place until October 6 with work taking place from 9am-3pm. From October 7 to 24, work will take place overnight.

Secret nocturnal visitor to wildlife trust

The nocturnal visitor to Staffordshire Wildlife Trust's HQ at Wolsley Bridge

A SECRETIVE nocturnal visitor to the Staffordshire Wildlife Trust's HQ has been captured on camera for the second year running.

Using a special camera triggered by movement and heat, Staffordshire Wildlife Trust filmed an otter paying a visit to a brook in the grounds of their Wolsley Centre HQ near Rugeley.

Jess Picken, placement volunteer at the Trust who set up the camera said: "I couldn't believe my eyes when I looked back at the footage."

"It's extremely rare to see an otter as they're such shy creatures, so we're very lucky to capture one on camera again here at the Wolsley Centre."

Earlier in the year the Trust renovated an otter holt near the banks of the River Trent which was damaged by flooding.

Habitats

Scott Petrek, Wolsley Centre warden said: "Staffordshire Wildlife Trust has been working hard to improve habitats for otters, through river restoration projects, holt creation and tackling other blackspots at road and rail culverts."

He added: "As little as 40 years ago, otters were pretty much extinct, but thanks to cleaner rivers and more sympathetic management, they have now been recorded in every English county. It's a real conservation success story."

In the video, the otter can be seen walking across a rock before noticing the camera and coming over for a closer look.

The camera was set up after otter droppings, or spraint, were discovered in a number of locations in the centre's grounds. Last year the camera caught several shots of an otter, thought to be female.

The Wolsley Centre is set in 26 acres of grounds and as well as a children's play trail, also boasts wildlife and sensory gardens.

Retail development on edge of town to create 100 jobs

A NEW retail park creating more than 100 jobs will be built in Cannock, with Costa Coffee, Burger King and CSL Sofas already signed up for the development.

One other unconfirmed household name could also open on the redundant grass island in between three roundabouts at the Churchbridge interchange on the outskirts of the town.

The multi-million pound plans from Hortons' Estate Developments Ltd and Trebor Developments have been submitted to Cannock Chase Council.

Called the Cannock Gateway Retail Park, the new four-building development covering 5.8 acres will be located opposite the existing Orbital Retail Park close to the A460, A5 and junction 7 of the M6 Toll. Around 120 full and part-time jobs are due to be created by the four stores.

A report to planners states: "This is a significant investment into the area in terms of job creation and will have a number of positive benefits."

"The nature of the retail proposals will secure local jobs for the local workforce. In addition to the direct jobs that will be created as part of the development proposals there will also be a number of indirect benefits that will also arise."

Richard Howell, aged 37, and Ross Underwood, 28, are accused of taking a sports car, cigarettes, cash and a £15,000 watch in the raids over a period of less than three weeks.

One of the alleged robberies was carried out at the home of a 52-year-old widow in Fox Street, Woodsetton. At Dudley Magistrates' Court on Monday, Howell, of Carder Crescent, Bilston, and Underwood, of Damson Wharf, Tipton, gave no plea in response to being charged with conspiracy to rob with others. Both men were remanded to appear again at Wolverhampton crown court on November 26.

Miss Jo Taylor, prosecuting, said the charge related to five alleged robberies, between August 12 and 30.

The first was an alleged car jacking of an Audi TT at Orbital Retail Park in Cannock.

Problems

These benefits are listed as the construction jobs which will be created when building work gets under way, workers' spending at the site and business rate incomes.

Cannock Chase Council leader George Adamson welcomed the scheme. He said: "It is great news as we desperately need more jobs to be created."

"This is a welcome investment in Cannock for an unused area which we have all got used to driving past."

"I can't foresee there being any problems with this scheme and understand the Highways department at the county council are happy that extra traffic will be able to cope."

The new Burger King would include a 'drive-thru', and will be the first in the Cannock area.

Costa Coffee is part of Whitbread Plc which owns the Premier Inn and The Orbital pub opposite the proposed site. The company also has a coffee shop in Cannock Shopping Centre.

CSL is a privately owned family business and is an upmarket sofa and home furnishings specialist. In the Midlands area, the company currently has stores in Stoke and Solihull. The plans will come before the council's planning committee in October.

March in protest over HS2 plans

CAMPAIGNERS against the £42 billion high speed rail network will stage a 10-mile march in Staffordshire on Sunday.

The route will take protesters across land that will be taken out by HS2 before 73 helium balloons are then released at sunset.

The number is a reference to the news that the high-speed track could cost as much as £73 billion according to latest private Treasury predictions.

Three action groups - from Kings Bromley, Colton and The Ridwars - have united for the protest. Later, 400 balloons will be released as part of a fund-raising race.

Campaigner Anthony Sutton, from Colton, said: "There are many people in these villages whose farms will be destroyed by the scheme, it will be impossible for them to operate."

"We hope the march, along paths not normally open to the public, will open people's eyes to the beautiful countryside that this plan is going to destroy."

The first phase of the project will go from London to Lichfield,

WE WILL not go to war. Parliament stood up to the Government. The anger, suspicion and fears of the British people were brilliantly expressed by our elected members in some fine speeches and the Prime Minister wisely backed down. AFTER the enormous and enduring cock-ups of Iraq and Afghanistan, we should have learned enough by now to leave Syria well alone. Syria is not some clapped-out house of cards like Saddam's Iraq or Gaddafi's Libya. Syria has an army which is still fiercely loyal to President Assad. It is three times as big as the British Army and is equipped with some extremely deadly Russian hardware. Syria has allies including Hizbollah and Iran who may soon have the technology to lob chemical warheads into Europe. Above all, the lesson of history in the Middle East is that when dictators fall, chaos follows and the last thing the locals ever feel is one iota of gratitude towards the West.

OKAY, call me small-minded. Call me a Little Englander. You may even be excused for hissing "racist!" But I bet I wasn't the only Brit whose hackles rose as Beth West explained the alleged benefits of the HS2 high-speed train on Radio 4 this week. She challenged British industry to "step up" and ensure this £30 billion (£42 billion? £70 billion? £100 billion?) white elephant is constructed. West is commercial director of HS2 Ltd but started her career with the US Government on Capitol Hill before becoming a New York banker. In barely 100 years, from the extermination of the buffalo, to the dustbowl of the mid-West and the ruins of bankrupt Detroit, the Yanks have made a right mess of their own country. Somehow, I rather resent being told by anyone with an American accent that I must accept the despoiling of my green, well-tended and still rather pleasant little land by a screaming 250mph behemoth that none of my English friends actually want.

WE HAVE just received our newsletter from the British Hedgehog Preservation Society. I can't help reflecting that when we joined, back in the 1980s, it had very few members but there were an awful lot of hedgehogs. Today the society has 12,000 members but there are very few hedgehogs. Curious.

NEARLY 25,000 students applied for courses at the University of Liberia and it was reported this week that every single one had failed the admission test. A spokesman for the African university said the youngsters "lacked enthusiasm and did not have a basic grasp of English." They could always try media studies in England.

Beach party to celebrate end of year

MORE than 100 people celebrated at a parent and toddler group's end of year party.

Children, their mums and dads and grandparents attended the Hammerwich Parent & Toddler group beach party.

The children played with sand, water, a bouncy castle and had a visit from the ice cream man. And, while they had a buffet lunch, the adults enjoyed strawberry cream teas. The sun shone as the group also celebrated the opening of their nature garden, a project supported by grants from the We Love Lichfield Fund, Burntwood Lions and the Burntwood Memorial Institute, where toddler group meetings are held.

A bug house has been created by institute committee member Stan Bourne and the garden was officially opened by trustees

Brian Harman, Ron Box and Gwyneth Howell.

The toddler group has been running for more than 20 years and recently moved to the Rugeley Road building following an increase in numbers. Sessions are held on a Monday and Wednesday from 10am until noon and from 1 to 3pm.

Regeneration scheme boosts trade in town

by Will Ackermann

RETAILERS say a £50 million scheme to regenerate Hednesford has boosted town centre trade since its launch – despite rising numbers of vacant shops in the town.

Figures for June showed seven units were empty in the town centre, up from four empty premises listed in the same month last year.

Numbers of empty units rise

THE NUMBER of empty shops in Cannock Chase's town centres has risen since last year, new figures show – in spite of efforts to fill vacant units.

Figures, for June this year compared to the same month in 2012, show the number of empty shops in Rugeley has increased by two to eight.

In Cannock town centre there were 13 vacant ground-floor units in key shopping areas in June this year, compared with 15 in the same month of 2012, a net rise of three empty units across the district.

The figures were presented at a meeting between town centre regeneration bosses from Cannock Chase Council and representatives from the three towns' traders' associations.

Bob Phillips, district council head of planning and regeneration, said further surveys would be conducted to map the change in the number of vacant units, with a view to finding ways of filling the spots.

It was agreed that the committee would be the primary vehicle for the debate about how to improve the performance of the district's town centres.

It comes after the opening of a brand new 80,000 sq ft Tesco superstore and a new Aldi supermarket plus the replacement of the old Aquarius Ballroom.

David Greatrix, chairman of the Hednesford Traders Association, said most retailers were now reaping the benefits while conceding smaller traders were facing fresh challenges.

He said: "The new developments have brought extra people into the town, meaning extra footfall."

"It's not just about footfall, though," he added.

"The general look of the town is a lot smarter than it used to be, making it a nicer place to shop."

Struggling

Mr Greatrix, who also runs motorcycle parts business Hoggarts, said some smaller retailers were suffering as the larger stores were drawing their customers away from the town.

He added: "For some specialist businesses, like mine, all the extra footfall in the world isn't going to make a difference."

"Luckily, things are going well for us, but some people in the town are struggling, but I don't know if that's just because of the general economic climate."

Councillor Diane Todd, cabinet portfolio leader for town centre regeneration, said the opening of Discount UK had contributed to an increase in footfall between the Tesco supermarket and Market Street.

Burglar is jailed for 14 months

THE son of a Sudanese government minister has been jailed after he was caught breaking into a Cannock home.

Former TV journalist Emmanuel Arang hurled a brick through the glass back door in Old Fallow Road.

The noise woke up the householder who went to confront the intruders, Stafford crown court was told. Mr Philip Beardmore, prosecuting, said the resident also saw two other figures and shouted that he was going to call the police.

He moved in to the living room and locked the door behind him and saw three men running away. Police found blood stains on the door, and DNA tests matched them to Arang, a convicted drugs offender out of jail on licence.

The 24-year-old, of Cedars Avenue, Acocks Green, admitted burglary and was jailed for 14 months. The court heard Arang had a list of 20 previous offences, including a five-year jail term imposed in 2010.

Mr Beardmore said nothing had been stolen, only a mirror had been smashed.

Mr Raglan Ashton, defending, explained Arang's motive for burgling the house but it cannot be reported under a court order banning publication.

Bail again for golf pro

A GOLF club professional who was arrested on suspicion of downloading indecent images of children has been re-bailed until December.

Guy Dean, aged 43, who has worked at clubs including Beau Desert at Cannock, was first arrested in April.

Mr Dean was also head professional at Dartmouth Golf Club, West Bromwich, before he spent five years as head professional at Dudley Golf Club, Rowley Regis. In 2005 Mr Dean became head professional at Penn.

Penn Golf Club accepted his resignation with immediate effect after the arrest.

Cars in collision

TWO cars crashed along a busy road in Burntwood during morning rush hour. The smash between a blue Ford Fiesta and black Ford Mondeo Zetec happened at around 7.20am on Monday, September 2, along Hanney Hay Road in Chasetown. Both drivers suffered minor injuries.

Charity branch on the lookout for more volunteers

Tracey Rogers, Michelle Hill and Gill Higgins, volunteers with the Cannock & Burntwood Branch

A CHARITY'S newly-reformed Cannock and Burntwood branch is appealing for cat lovers to become volunteers.

Cats Protection, which provides an essential cat rehoming, neutering and education service, is hosting a volunteer information day next weekend for people to learn more about what helping the charity involves.

The drop-in session takes place on Saturday, September 14, from 11am until 3pm at the Aquarius Ballroom and Banqueting Suite, Victoria Shopping Park, Hednesford. Staff and volunteers from Cats Protection will be on hand to provide more information about volunteering and answer queries.

Rob Hall, Cat's Protection's regional development manager for North Midlands & North Wales, said: "Volunteering for Cats Protection is a fun and rewarding experience, particularly if you have a skill that would benefit the charity or would like to develop new skills by taking on a fresh challenge.

"Our volunteers gain a great deal of satisfaction helping cats get a second chance in life," he added.

"Some of the volunteer roles available include rehoming team leader, welfare team leader, fundraising events co-ordinator, cat fosterer, home visitor and fundraising volunteer.

"We work hard to match people's skills, interests and time availability to the roles on offer."

Anyone interested in becoming a volunteer for Cats Protection's Cannock & Burntwood Branch, but who is unable to attend on the day, is asked to call 03000 121212 (option 1), email bsusnwe@cats.org.uk, or visit www.cannock.cats.org.uk

Reduction in parking fees could boost towns' trade

PARKING charges in Cannock Chase's town centres could be slashed in a move to boost high streets, under proposals being considered by councillors.

A committee aimed at improving Cannock and Rugeley is looking into plans which could see fees axed after 3pm or reduced round the clock.

Petition is handed in by father

A FATHER whose son was abducted by his Thai wife has handed a 7,500-strong petition to Downing Street, calling for the Government to crack down on the issue.

Sean Felton walked 130 miles from Cannock to London as part of his campaign. His son Jobe was snatched by his mother in 2010.

Mr Felton, aged 46, of Norton Canes, tracked his estranged wife down 6,000 miles away and was reunited with his son. He walked to Downing Street with Leila Sabra of Manchester, whose daughter was snatched by her father in Egypt.

Mr Felton is campaigning for the Government to be more proactive in parental child abduction cases and also to make the passport laws tighter.

Cannock Chase MP Aidan Burley met Mr Felton at Downing Street.

Mr Burley said: "I was delighted to join Sean at the end of his walk and help him present his petition to Downing Street. He has done himself and Cannock proud and managed to raise greater awareness of this issue nationally."

Traders in both towns have long complained that customers are put off from shopping in the high streets by the costs of council car parks. Now, Cannock Chase Council's town centre regeneration committee has given assurances it will consider making changes to the system.

Councillor Diane Todd, cabinet portfolio leader for town centre regeneration, said it was 'unlikely' car parking fees would be scrapped altogether, but said she 'couldn't rule anything out'.

Trial

In June, the council lowered charges at St Joseph's Church car park in Rugeley, from £1.60 to £1.10 for two hours' in an effort to boost footfall in the town.

Councillor Todd said the effect of that reduction would be assessed after a six-month trial period ended, and the result would be a factor in determining what measures to take going forward.

The committee made its promise to look into various options at a meeting with representatives from the district's trade association.

Bob Phillips, the district council's head of planning and regeneration said: "In Cannock and Rugeley we will take parking charges as one of the issues the traders' associations want us to look at over the coming year and we will do that."

Curtain up on The Sound of Music

A THEATRE company has been putting the finishing touches to its production of The Sound of Music. The show has attracted the attention of the real-life von Trapp family who inspired the musical classic.

Cast members aged from seven to 60 have been working hard to ensure they live up to expectations, after receiving a good luck letter from the von Trapps.

Associate producer Sarah Williams said the letter had motivated the team to give the best performance possible when the curtain goes up at Cannock's

Prince of Wales Centre today (Thursday). Ms Williams, a member of Cannock Youth Theatre between the ages of eight and 16, said: "It is going very well. In the rehearsals, there seems to be lots of enthusiasm coming from the cast."

Ms Williams's grandmother Jean Brown is producing the show and dedicating it to her brother Victor Harris, who worked for the von Trapp Family in Vermont, in the United States, after the family fled there to escape Nazi-occupied Austria. Victor, who died in 2012, had been friends with Maria and Captain Georg von Trapp's youngest son, Johannes, who wrote a personal letter to Jean that included a message of good luck to the cast and crew.

Ms Williams said: "For a lot of people I think this is a particularly special show, one which they grew up with."

The musical runs until Saturday (September 7) with an extra matinee performance on the final day. Tickets are available from the theatre's box office on 01543 578762 or online at www.jeanbrownproductions.org.uk

IN MY VIEW

WITH
ANDREWS

AS I write this, there is a song swirling round at the back of my mind. Don't know who sang it, but it just won't leave my head.

Something about 'the marriage vow being very sacred'. Yes it's coming back now, something along the lines of "Come on, come on, let's stick together. You know we made a vow, not to leave one another, never."

Whose song was that? Dunno, it's on the tip of my tongue.

Meanwhile, in other news singer Brian Ferry, aged 67, has just split from his second wife, Amanda Sheppard, 30, having got married last year.

Now, who sang that song again?

WOULDN'T you have loved to be on duty at the police station in Stockholm when a man called in to report that he was intimidated by 'a group of drunk elks' who were in his home.

Now I'm sure the police in Amsterdam get calls like that all the time. Indeed there are probably certain parts of Wolverhampton where the natives are convinced they are in imminent danger from a herd of marauding wildebeest after a few too many herbal cigarettes.

But in Sweden? What's more, it seems, this really did happen. The man was apparently unable to enter his residence because he was being stared down by a rowdy bunch of elk that had got inebriated on fermented apples that had fallen from a nearby tree.

Police spokesman Albin Naverberg said the man had no option but to call the authorities as the animals posed a big threat.

"They can be really dangerous, they become fearless," Mr Naverberg told a local newspaper.

A line of defence which will no doubt be useful in handy if any Newcastle United fans find themselves in conflict with a police horse when they visit these parts in a couple of weeks.

DON'T you just love it when politicians try to show how they are down with the kids and in tune with the modern age?

First we have Nick Clegg, saying that two weeks' paternity leave for new fathers is 'an Edwardian relic', and has also been a considerable inconvenience to himself.

Of course it is. You will no doubt have heard about all those Edwardian miners coughing their lungs out beneath the ground, or the men working in the searing heat of the foundries and chainshops constantly saying "What we would really like is an extra four weeks' paid paternity leave."

Then we have Conservative MP Claire Perry saying that teachers need to get into the digital age and start teaching youngsters about porn on the internet.

I think she is concerned about the harmful effects porn has on teenagers, rather than a shortage of IT skills in accessing it, but it still seems remarkably naive.

Tour is last hurrah for ex-Staffords soldiers

Soldiers from the old Staffordshire Regiment are off on their final tour of Afghanistan. JOHN SCOTT takes up the story

TROOPS from the West Midlands have completed their final training exercise ready for their 'last hurrah' on the front-line in Afghanistan. It will be their last tour of duty before the battalion is disbanded.

The eight-month tour will be the last for the 3rd Battalion Mercian Regiment (3Mercian) – formerly The Staffords – before it is disbanded as part of plans to cut 20,000 from the strength of the regular army.

Preparing to leave for trouble-torn Helmand Province following the final stages of training on Salisbury Plain, Lt Col Chris Davies, their Commanding Officer, said: "This is our last hurrah – a chance to leave a legacy that goes forward with the heritage of the battalion.

Engage

"It is the final opportunity for us to represent 3Mercian and the Staffords and my troops are hungry to do justice to the occasion."

Pte Michael Marston, aged 20, whose family live in Stafford, joined 3 Mercian 12 months ago and will be on his first tour. He said: "It will be a privilege to be on the final tour."

"I am excited and cannot wait to get out there. I have no worries about how I will react the first time I engage the enemy because we have been well trained."

The former King Edward V High School and Stafford College student, who completed two months of intensive training in Canada, added: "I had a couple of jobs in civvy street after leaving college but was bored. 'I had wanted to join the Army since I was a kid."

His mother Joanne, 42, admitted at the family's home: "I am very nervous but extremely proud."

"He has worked very hard and is really excited about going out there."

Physical education officer and deputy media officer Ben Lolley, of Armitage

Pte Patrick Coggins, aged 18, whose parents Sandra and Stephen live in Westcroft, Wolverhampton, joined the Army as a 16-year-old boy soldier after leaving Wolgarston High School in Penkridge.

He explained: "3Mercian are my local battalion and I wanted to serve in the infantry, so it was a perfect fit for me."

Pte Coggins joined the battalion last December shortly before his 18th birthday and immediately volunteered for action in Afghanistan.

He said: "I was determined to get on the tour because it is the last for 3Mercian and British troops are being pulled out next year anyway. It was a once and for all opportunity." His mother Sandra conceded: "It will be a nerve wracking time for his father and I while he is away but we fully support him."

Former school friends Ptes Chris Chapman, 25, and 23-year-old Adam Avery lost touch after leaving Woodhouse High School, Amington, near where they live in next door streets but are now comrades in arms after independently deciding to join 3Mercian 12 months ago. Pte Avery revealed: "I could not believe my eyes when Chapman rocked up. We are even serving in the same platoon."

His pal added: "We are Staffs lads and 3Mercian is our battalion. We are proud to be representing it on its final tour."

L/Cpl Andrew Barton, 33, from Solihull, who was promoted to L/Cpl this week after joining 3Mercian in October last year, is nicknamed 'Doc' because he has a degree in biomedical material science and a PhD in medical diagnostics.

He admitted: "People might find it strange that I had such a dramatic change of direction in my life but I suddenly realised this was what I really wanted to do."

The 322 soldiers from 3Mercian serving in Afghanistan will be split into two companies and a brigade advisory team.

A Company has already arrived at their base in Lashkar Durrai at a key junction of Highway 1, the main road round Afghanistan.

They will shortly be joined in Helmand Province by comrades from C Company who will operate out of a base near the logistically important town of Gereshkh. Both companies will be supporting the Afghan National Army at two of the four remaining patrol bases outside Camp Bastion where British troops are still stationed.

Title

Many of the 3Mercian troops may return home before the end of their projected eight month tour and close the final British bases for good as they pull out.

3Mercian will merge with the 1st and 2nd Battalions Mercian Regiment next summer but L/Cpl Barton insisted: "Both will have the name of the Staffords in their title. This is not the death of the old Staffords. It is the birth of two new ones, each with Staffordshire soldiers in them."

The troops and families will leave their current barracks in Germany next summer and move to join either 1Mercian in Bulford or 2Mercian at its new HQ in Chester.

But there will be an emotional homecoming for 3Mercian before disbandment. They will exercise their right to march through places in the West Midlands and Staffordshire where they have been granted the freedom of the town or city one last time after their return.

The battalion's colours will then be laid up in Lichfield Cathedral alongside those of the former Staffordshire Regiment.

THROUGH THE YEARS

1983...

TWO top gardeners left the opposition in tears at the West Midlands heaviest onion competition – but the winning vegetables did not touch the magic five-pound mark. Winner John Sifford of Halesowen said poor weather meant his winning onion was five ounces short.

AUSTRALIAN newlyweds Joe and Josie Willis flew 12,000 miles to celebrate their honeymoon – in Coseley. And the couple were given a typical Black Country welcome by Joe's aunt who made them a cuppa.

MEMBERS of the Sealed Knot charity society caused a stir in Staffordshire when they re-enacted the Battle of Hopton Heath. Roundheads and Royalists clashed on playing fields at Etching Hill High School during a friendly representation of the 1643 English Civil War battle.

1993...

A BABY born in Netherton was given a pampered start to life by no fewer than nine sets of grandparents and great-grandparents. Samantha Humphries was showered with affection as family members from across the generations gathered to celebrate.

STAFF at Wolverhampton Grammar School started a new scheme issuing "boredom warnings" to students before dull lessons. The idea was hatched by headteacher Bernard Trafford in an effort to keep pupils tuned in during tedious subjects.

LADY Godiva rode through the streets of Droitwich to protest at the planned closure of a hospital used by rheumatism sufferers. Kingswinford beauty queen Justine Mather wore a white swimsuit and long wig for her role as she headed a march organised by campaigners fighting to save Highfield Hospital.

2003...

PLANS for an £80 million shopping, leisure, office and housing development in Wolverhampton were axed after a planning inquiry. Council chiefs said the proposals for the Springfield Brewery site would hit existing shopping centres in the area.

A QUICK-THINKING aunt used first aid skills she picked up on a course 20 years ago to save a tot who was choking on a penny. Lorraine Garratt from Tipton unblocked 19-month-old Sheridan Wilkes' airways after the toddler swallowed the coin which became lodged in her throat.

Teenager's mercy trip brings Joy to orphans

TEENAGER Joy Parkes is embarking on a life-changing adventure which is taking her all the way from Rugeley to Kisumu in Kenya.

She sets out this month and will stay for six months working in an orphanage. And she says she is determined to make a difference to their lives.

Joy, aged 19, grew up in Heath Hayes, with her older brother Michael and her parents, Simon and Claire, who spent many years as pastors of a church in Chaddsmoor.

A former pupil of Fair Oak School in Rugeley, Joy studied childcare and education at Lichfield College, and later was employed at a Cannock nursery.

Calling

The family now lives in Rugeley, where Joy and her brother help to lead the worship at the Victory Christian Centre.

Joy said: "I have only ever known love and security in my family life. These children have nothing. I always felt there was going to be a calling."

That calling came at a national Christian youth event at Stafford Showground last year, Soul Survivors, while Joy was helping as a steward.

"One of the speakers was talking about the plight of children in an orphanage and I really felt their hurt and their pain."

"I just knew, I had to go and help."

The 'orphans' in question had been placed by their own parents into a kind of 'letterbox' which had been specially erected to take unwanted babies and children, or those whose parents simply could not cope any longer.

A bell attached to the box alerted

Joy Parkes, aged 19, of Rugeley, is to spend six months in Kenya local church workers who rescued them and placed them into a safe orphanage.

While there, Joy will help to restore and redecorate a run-down orphanage which has been taken on by the Victory Churches International.

Gifts

The home, now referred to as 'Victory - Children's Home of Champions', sits on about two acres of land, a five-minute walk from Lake Victoria, and houses buildings including the orphanage and primary and high schools.

Joy will also make use of her many musical gifts - she plays guitar, piano, bass and also sings. Colleagues at Victory Christian Centre are busy raising funds to not only to fly Joy out, but also for her board and lodgings. She will live and work alongside more than 100 children.

"I have received a lot of support, but still need more for the trip is scheduled to begin in September. I am hoping to get 30 people to donate £40 each, which will cover my food and lodgings at the orphanage," she said.

To help Joy - or the orphans - contact Pastors Will and Barbara Graham at Victory Christian Centre, Anson Street, Rugeley, call 01889 576246 or email office@victorychristiancentre.org.uk

Sad that where MP lives are priorities

IT seems grossly hypocritical of Councillor Kraujalis, spokesman for Labour's parliamentary candidate, to criticise Aidan Burley for living the other side of Huntington when for 18 years, he supported Dr Tony Wright, who lived the other side of Birmingham.

However, perhaps he wishes to discuss such matters as a way for him and his candidate, Councillor Toth, to avoid having to answer important questions that affect constituents.

One they have both been dodging is whether they support Allport Road residents in their fight against plans to demolish their homes?

It is very sad that Councillors Kraujalis and Toth apparently give a higher priority to where the MP calls home than to whether the constituents they aspire to represent will have their homes destroyed.

Poet's ode to the WI movement

*FROM a tiny seed that was sown in Wales,
A wonderful fellowship now prevails.
From village hall to stately home,
Each month it gathers a heritage to own.*

*Under the leadership of Mrs Watt,
In 1915 the WI was begot.
To teach women skills and give them their pride,
Develop new culture no denomination to hide.*

*For the cost of a florin the movement began,
Casting aside the jibes shouted by man.
Such as women can't vote, or share points of view,
But Edith Rigby soon challenged with the Suffragette crew.*

*The movement grew strong, resisted all verbal weather,
And soon Lady Denman united together,*

*All branches as one in a great special cause,
To provide food and give guidance through both World Wars.*

*Jam and Jerusalem papers poked fun,
But retracted their words because of the job that was done.
And still is today by this special troupe,
May the future be long for the WI Group.*

Car park ideal for shops and hospital

I READ that our MP was worried about the extra parking needed if our precious Cannock Hospital gets its proposed revamping.

Then I read about proposals to redevelop town car park in Beecroft Road for more shops, with the possibility of some houses in Allport Road being affected badly.

I personally use that car park when I visit the town as it has a very good underpass to the shops etc. It is also very useful for Cannock Hospital as I find the uphill walk to the hospital car park too steep on some days.

It is not rocket science for everyone to notice we have a good crossing from this car park which is covered by pedestrian lights, therefore a very safe crossing to the hospital.

Problem solved!! Keep the car park as it is for all Cannock residents and shoppers and especially for hospital appointments and visiting.

Care second to none

I RECENTLY had cause to attend Stafford Hospital for a minor procedure which took in an overnight stay. I write to advise the public that the treatment and care that I received was second to none. I would also, through your media, like to express my grateful thanks to the doctors, nurses and members of staff who cared for my every need during my stay.

Scheme should be rethought

THE pedestrianisation in parts of Rugeley is all very well, but where will these people park to get there in the first place - and what shops will survive to entice them into the town?

Why not use some of that cash to offset the shop rates and encourage small businesses? Soon a new supermarket will be opening and once again the small shops will suffer. If the cash is to be spent making the roads safer it would make more sense to take out the traffic lights at the junction of Church Street and Western Springs Road, where there have been many fatalities.

The new proposals in my opinion will only make matters worse and the whole matter should be re-thought in order to conserve this beautiful little town and encourage its future. More pedestrianisation is not the answer.

The whole scheme should go back to the drawing board.

Ex-pat's praise for school over exams

MY family and I live overseas now and we decided that our daughter needed some UK qualifications. We enrolled her with a distance learning school and she studied hard.

Then we came to book her in for the GCSE examinations as an external candidate and it was a nightmare. Luckily for us we found Norton Canes High School and a gentleman named Ian Garfield who led us through the procedure with minimum fuss and maximum efficiency.

The exams themselves were held in an atmosphere of calm which is just what is needed. I am just writing this to say thanks to the school and to Ian. If the rest of the school is run like this it must be a good place to be educated. We will be back next year.

Council defectors should forfeit ward

IF someone stands at a local election under the guise of representing a party, then decides to defect while sitting as the councillor for that ward, surely they must forfeit that ward and a re-election should take place. If I voted for a representative from the Conservative party who won the election, then mid-term decided to become a UKIP representative then they no longer represent the people who voted for them. Nor in my opinion should they remain a councillor. What are the rules regarding this because it looks in Rawnsley this affects us?

Noa goes ape after winning art contest

Noa Dewally, aged 12, of Hednesford, with her winning artwork that promotes the outdoor ethos of Go Ape!

A SCHOOLGIRL enjoyed a high-wire adventure after putting her creative talents to the test. Noa Dewally, aged 12, of Hednesford, won an art competition and was treated to a day on the Go Ape! course at Birches Valley.

Youngsters were challenged to create a piece of artwork that emphasised the Go Ape! ethos of the great outdoors and living life adventurously. Noa's picture, "Trainer" will be hung for site visitors to see. The Year 8 Great Wyrley Performing Arts High School pupil said she and her family were proud of her achievement, adding: "The judges said it best summed up the message. I felt really excited."

She was joined at Go Ape! by her father Arno. Manager Claire Potter said: "Her winning entry is fantastic and will be displayed in one of our stockades for everyone to see."

Homes bid at old pub site

THE site of a former Burntwood pub plagued by anti-social behaviour could be transformed into 20 homes.

Proposals for the scheme, of 12 houses and eight apartments at the former Greyhound pub, have been recommended for approval despite a number of objections.

Two neighbours sent their concerns to planning bosses at Lichfield District Council. They claimed there was not enough parking and that the proposed houses were too close to existing properties in Boney Hay Road.

A decision will be made at a planning meeting next Tuesday, September 9.

Detriment

In a report to Lichfield District Council's planning committee, officer Claire Billings says: "I am satisfied that, in principle, the proposed dwellings could be accommodated on the site without detriment to the character and grain of the surrounding area."

Applicants, Partner Construction Ltd and Burntwood Hay Ltd, have been ordered by Staffordshire County Council to hand over £66,000 to provide three primary and two secondary places at nearby schools.

Developers have submitted a number of applications for the site since it was cleared. They have been refused on the basis they were too intensive or out of character.

Extra meeting in village over hospital proposals

ADMINISTRATORS proposing to strip Stafford Hospital of services have agreed to hold an additional public consultation meeting in Penkridge.

Meetings over the proposals to dissolve Mid Staffordshire NHS Foundation Trust and re-structure services began on August 6. The meeting in Penkridge will take place on Tuesday, September 10 from 7-9pm at the Monkton Recreation Centre in Pinfold Lane.

Jeremy Lefroy MP said: "I am pleased we have been able to organise a meeting in Penkridge so local residents have the opportunity to quiz the administrators on their plans."

The administrators' proposals will now go to Health Secretary Jeremy Hunt for final approval.

Traders say views were ignored on road scheme

TRADERS in Rugeley claim a consultation into plans for a major revamp of roads in the town was unfairly conducted, giving opponents little chance to have their say.

They spoke out against the £500,000 scheme to reduce Horse Fair, a key route into the town, to a single lane carriageway.

Staffordshire County Council has previously said that around 100 people viewed the plans, with most giving positive feedback.

But estate agent Angi Cooney, vice-president of the Rugeley Traders Association, felt she and others had been ignored.

She said: "We had a letter on August 19 to say there was a meeting on the 21st. I think it has been very quickly rushed through and the lack of consultation is frustrating."

"This is a huge thing and we are not being listened to."

Open cast mine plan raises fears

FEARS have been raised over the impact of any future open cast mining after it emerged a site earmarked for homes is being investigated.

Walsall Council is looking into the ownership of mineral rights for the land which borders Lime Lane, Norton Canes; Norton Road, Pelsall, and Brownhills Common.

The site is listed in the Black Country Joint Core Strategy as part of a multi-million pound scheme to provide 60,000 new homes and 300,000 square yards of retail space, but has been identified as a potential site for fire clay extraction.

Brownhills Local Committee chairman Doug Birch has asked council bosses to act to remove a long-standing planning consent at the site in a bid to prevent any future mining activity.

Walsall Council planning policy officer Mike Smith said such legal action would run into millions of pounds and there was no guarantee of a successful challenge.

Work could start as soon as October. At consultation meeting, residents could view a simulation of how the plans would work during peak traffic.

County Councillor Mark Winnington, for economy and infrastructure, said: "We understand there will be varied opinions and we want to take everyone's views on board."

"We are working with people who live and work in the town to make sure we get it right."

Moderate walk

CHASE & District Group Ramblers take part in a moderate nine-mile scenic walk at Martley, west of Worcester, this weekend.

They will depart from Hedenford rail station car park, Anglesey Street, at 9am on Sunday, September 8.

Heritage night to celebrate town's First World War role

A NOSTALGIC evening in Hedenford will tell the story of the town's remarkable contribution to the First World War.

Events are being held to mark the 100th anniversary of the outbreak of the Great War.

Communities throughout the UK played a significant part in contributing to the war effort and an insight into Hedenford's role is being presented at Pye Green Community Centre, Bradbury Lane, on Thursday, September 26 at 7pm. Entry is free. Discussions will also take place on how to suitably commemorate the anniversary.

Throughout the next four years, events will be held across the country to mark key dates during the conflict.

Filmgoers head in just One Direction

Jess Bentley and Chloe Plant, both aged 14 and from Penkridge at Cineworld to see the 1D This Is Us movie. IT WAS the moment they had been counting down to for weeks. One Direction fans descended on cinemas to see their long-awaited debut film One Direction: This Is Us.

Dozens of people were waiting for the doors of Cineworld in Bentley Bridge, Wednesfield, to open, to make sure they were among the first to see the film. Among them were Penkridge pals Jess Bentley and Chloe Plant, both aged 14. This Is Us, directed by Morgan Spurlock, follows the five members of 1D as they tour the world.

It sees the band members, including Wolverhampton's Liam Payne, who last week celebrated his 20th birthday, talk about the band's meteoric rise to fame.

And for fans, the 93-minute 3D film would be a chance to get the kind of access to their idols they dreamed about but have never had before.

Drugs stash concealed inside fake plug socket

A DRUGS raid uncovered a stash of cannabis and hundreds of pounds in cash concealed in a secret compartment behind a fake wall plug socket, a court heard.

Magistrates heard that police swooped on the home of Clint Johnston in Benion Road, Chadsmoor, where they executed a drugs warrant in February.

Inside they discovered the hidden chamber in the defendant's bedroom where they found 20 food 'grip sealed' bags of cannabis weighing 16.6g as well as a brown envelope containing around £250 in notes.

Excessive

Prosecuting, Mr Adam Warner told the court that the defendant admitted being a heavy cannabis user. He said: "Forensics found the drug to be skunk cannabis and the defendant said he would buy it in large quantities so it was cheaper and that he could get through quite a lot in a day as he was an excessive smoker. He also said that he would sell or pass quantities to his friends."

The 30-year-old pleaded guilty to a single count of possession with intent to supply of a controlled class B drug.

Defending, Mr Mark Hemming said Johnston was a low level offender.

He said: "Clearly he buys cannabis and his friends buy some of it or they share it between themselves."

"It is his own operation. There is no huge amounts of cash being made out of this and it is very much a lesser role."

Magistrates accepted jurisdiction but adjourned the case.

Johnston was released on unconditional bail but must today (Thursday) attend a meeting with the Probation Service. He is due back before the court tomorrow (Friday) to be sentenced.

Pals' plaque remembers tragic schoolboy Thomas

Harry Mills, Callum Davies and Niall Purchase, all aged 13, hand over a plaque to Rampz owner Wayne Lewis

FRIENDS of a popular schoolboy who died of meningitis have clubbed together to buy a memorial plaque.

It will be installed at a skate park where they regularly spent time at together.

Stunt scooter enthusiast Thomas Smith, a pupil at Kingsmead Technology College in Hednesford, died aged 13 while on holiday earlier this year after a short battle with meningitis.

Now three of the Year 8 pupil's school friends who used to ride scooters with him at Rampz in Bridgtown, have had a plaque made, reading: "Tom Smith, 2000-2013. You will be missed."

Callum Davies, Harry Mills and Niall Purchase, all aged 13, hope it will keep alive the memory of their friend, who they all called a 'legend'.

Revamp

Callum said: "I just thought it would be a nice way to remember him because this is one of the places he used to like coming. Now part of him will always be here."

The plaque will be temporarily housed in the skate park's on-site shop.

Following a revamp of the premises in the new year, it will be mounted on one of the pieces of skate equipment.

Owner Wayne Lewis said: "It's a nice way for them to remember their friend."

Aston Villa fan Thomas, of Rawnslay, was also a passionate footballer and played for his school team and Chase-town Scholars Under 13s.

Meanwhile, a charity Zumbathon is being held at Chase Leisure on Saturday in aid of the Meningitis Trust. It has been organised by Tom's aunt Jane Gregory and takes place at the Stafford Road venue from noon to 4pm.

Progress made on store ahead of opening date

Work on the new Tesco store in Rugeley is making progress as it looks set to open at the end of the month

WORKMEN are making progress on a Tesco supermarket ahead of its opening later this month.

The building is rapidly taking shape ahead of its scheduled opening in Rugeley on September 30. The long-awaited store, which has been under construction since February, will create 300 jobs, 75 of which were ringfenced for the local unemployed.

Cannock Chase District Council leader George Adamson said: "The building is really taking shape. It is well on target and will be a major boost for Rugeley town and its residents when it opens."

Plans for the supermarket have been in the pipeline for more than a decade.

Paved

A £20 million scheme in 2002 was rejected by Government ministers despite widespread support because it was outside the town boundary. A new area action plan by Cannock Chase Council paved the way for the current scheme, which will include a separate restaurant and petrol station.

The 40,000sq ft store is being built on the former Celcon Blockworks site and adjoining land at the junction of Power Station Road and Leathermill Lane.

Money is also being spent on enhancing the local area with improvements to bus services and cycle and footpath links between the store and the town.

Tesco will clean up the canal towpath next to the store and improve the cycleway between the store and the Eastern Bypass. Demolition began last September.

Trips out to Salford and York

HEDNESFORD 'A' TWG

FOUR club members attended the Townswomen AGM in Harrogate. Among the dignitaries present were HRH Princess Anne, Esther Rantzen, the Lord Mayor of Harrogate and Olympic rower Anna Watkins. National chairman Pauline Myers handed the badge of office to Margaret Key.

The June trip to Salford Quays was an extremely enjoyable day out with members shopping, visiting the Lowry Museum and walking along the quayside.

The July outing to York went very well. Several members visited the train museum and saw the Mallard trains. Others visited York Minster, had a boat trip along the river, strolled around the shops and still found time to have lunch in a pub or cafe.

August's guild meeting was very enjoyable with entertainment from the Cherry Wood duo. Lynda and Sally provided an afternoon of songs, poetry and uplifting narratives.

On September 18 is a trip to Wightwick Manor with lunch at the Mermaid and then Moseley Old Hall, followed a week later by a coffee morning at Doreen's home in aid of the Macmillan Society.

Meetings are at St Peter's Church Hall on the second Monday of each month at 2pm. At the next meeting, Derek Higgott will give a talk on putting plants to bed for the winter and the auction of harvest produce.

Group buzzing over talk by bee-keeper

Member Angela Walker models protective gear at the talk on bees given to Chasetown WI

CHASETOWN WI

THERE was a buzz about the room at Chasetown WI's recent monthly meeting.

The speaker was Mrs Chris Shaw, who entertained the members with an account of how she became interested in bee-keeping some years ago, and how she had helped to build up her number of hives by collecting swarms from far and wide when people contacted her to remove them.

She explained all the equipment she used, including the protective clothing, modelled by Angela Walker, and showed a queen bee in the making. She also explained how the bees make honey with differing flavours and what has to be done to make sure that they can survive through the winter. Afterwards, jars of various flavoured honey on sale.

Tea and cakes were served during social time at the end of the evening, during which time Chris answered questions on her hobby.

Return visit is all sewn up

BURNTWOOD WI

THE meeting opened with the singing of Jerusalem, then visitors were welcomed. Cakes were handed out by Adrienne Black for her 70th birthday and wine given by Jean Bishop to celebrate her 90th.

After the minutes of the last meeting and reports on the county news, the speaker for the evening was introduced.

Sylvia Everitt was making a return visit, the previous time being 13 years ago.

Sylvia produced the Millennium Embroideries which are made up of 10 panels depicting the history of Staffordshire from the 11th century to the 20th.

Sylvia told how she started her big project, which is all her own work, and the hours she put in. It took five and a half years to complete.

Ladies were shown the panels in a slide show so

Sylvia could give a description of what each one depicted and why she had chosen certain historic events.

Sylvia was awarded the MBE in 2002. The embroideries are now on permanent display at the Lichfield Heritage Centre.

The competition for a poem about "Growing Old" was won by Jane Robinson and the Thought for the Month was given by Sue Hounslow.

Tribute paid by family to driver killed in collision

A FAMILY has paid tribute to a driver who died after his car hit a tree and ended up on its roof near Penkridge.

Ian McDonald from Ingestre Road, Stafford was confirmed dead after his BMW 330 was found on Congreve Road between Lapley and Congreve, last Wednesday morning.

Victim Ian McDonald

The 39-year-old had called his family on the way home at around 10pm on Tuesday to say he would be delayed due to a road closure.

His car was discovered at just before 5am the following day.

Mr McDonald was manager of the pharmacy within Penkridge Medical Centre in Pinfold Lane and leaves behind his fiancée Alyson and their son Jack.

Missed

In a family statement, his parents, Christine and Ian, and younger brothers Derek and David, said: "Ian was born in Glasgow in 1973 and emigrated with his family to South Africa in 1982. He studied at University in Grahamstown, and after qualifying as a pharmacist he returned to England."

"He came to Stafford three years ago."

"He will be sadly missed by his family and everybody who knew him."

Mr McDonald's funeral service takes place at Stafford Crematorium tomorrow (Friday).

The family requests no flowers, but donations instead to the Cystic Fibrosis Trust.

The road was closed off while investigations were carried out and police are appealing for witnesses to call Pc Andy Hogan on 101.

Give blood plea

BLOOD donors are urged to roll up their sleeves in Cannock next week. Sessions take place at the Civic Centre in Beecroft Road, on Monday, September 9 and volunteers can make an appointment between 1.30 and 3.30pm and from 4.30 to 7.30pm. Call 0300 123 23 23 to book.

Business leaders in call on financial aid

BUSINESS leaders in Cannock Chase have called on the Bank of England to do more to help new and small enterprises.

The Funding for Lending Scheme saw British banks and building societies lend £1.1bn between April and June this year, but Cannock Chase Chamber of Commerce director Chris Plant said it was the bigger companies that were benefiting.

He said: "Large firms often have little difficulty in accessing finance. The scheme should improve the flow of credit to fast growing companies that could end up being future wealth creators."

Store staff in more than one stop to raise funds

Sharon White of St Giles Hospice with fundraisers taking part in One-Stop's Miles For St Giles sponsored walk

STAFF at a chain of convenience stores have completed a challenging sponsored walk in aid of St Giles Walsall Hospice - raising more than £1,500 to boot.

The 'Miles for St Giles' fundraiser saw employees from One Stop outlets across the region trek from shop to shop across Cannock, Dudley and Wolverhampton. The 35-mile walk was held over two days, with staff and managers making their way from Dudley to Wolverhampton on August 9 and then touring stores in the Cannock area a week later.

Feat

Participants were sponsored by family, friends and colleagues - with collection tins in participating stores adding to the fundraising total.

The walk was organised by store managers Mel Johal and Vicky Rhodes. Helen Relihan, head of fundraising for St Giles Hospice, added: "Completing the Miles for St Giles challenge was no easy feat and on behalf of everyone at the hospice I'd like to congratulate all those who took part."

"We're absolutely thrilled with the amount that they raised and are very grateful for their valuable contribution."

Fundraising bid for Land Army tribute

Mary Malpass, aged 85, who served in the Land Army

Mary, front, second left, and fellow Land Army workers

A FORMER Land Army girl is drumming up support for a fundraising campaign that aims to raise £100,000 for a commemorative statue at the National Memorial Arboretum.

Grandmother-of-three Mary Malpass, of Cannock, served in the Women's Land Army for two-and-a-half years during the Second World War and was sent to live in Lea Hall, Eccleshall, to work on farms. The girls of the Land Army looked after animals, ploughed fields and harvested.

Ms Malpass, of Wolverhampton Road, said half the money for the statue had been raised by former Land Army girls in Staffordshire, but a further £50,000 was needed.

The 85-year-old, who has been presented with three medals for the part she played, has written to celebrities and the Queen to ask for donations. Sir Bruce Forsyth has replied with signed merchandise, which she will auction.

Ms Malpass said: "We want to put a bronze statue of a Land Army girl with a pitchfork at the National Memorial Arboretum. We are like the forgotten army and this statue will be there for everyone to see."

"We need donations and anything we may be able to raffle off to raise money."

Cheque donations can be made payable to Women's Land Army Tribute Staffordshire WFU and sent to Amerton Farm and Craft Centre, Stowe by Chartley, ST18 0LA.

Battlefield site dig starts

A DIG to uncover a scale model of one of the First World War's bloodiest battlefields is getting under way on Cannock Chase.

It was created by surviving soldiers in tribute to their dead comrades.

Archaeologists will begin charting the site, the only example of its kind left in the UK.

It was planned out in painstaking detail by troops returned from the Battle of Messines on the Western Front, fought in June 1917.

Experts said the terrain model was built not only as a training aid for other soldiers at Brocton Camp but in recognition at the horrific toll of slaughter the battle - fought around the landmark Messines ridge - took on the brigade.

Shelling

The ridge formed an anchor in the German front lines but the week-long offensive of infantry attack, aerial bombardment and heavy shelling resulted in an Allied victory.

The battle was fought in the build-up to the much larger Passchendaele offensive.

Staffordshire County Council is going to make a record of the model for future generations before recovering the site next month.

Leader Philip Atkins said: "This is a wonderful opportunity to bring the site back to life."

The model was built by German Prisoners of War, supervised by the New Zealanders, and rendered in concrete. It includes small-scale reconstructions of Messines village's buildings together with trench positions, railway lines, roads, and contours of the surrounding terrain.

Preparatory work on the site began on Monday (September 2) with the dig taking place next week.

NEWSChef knifed waiter at restaurant, jury is told

A CHEF wielding a 12ins meat knife lunged at a waiter at a Cannock restaurant and slashed him across the stomach after the two men fell out, a court heard.

Mohibul Babul attacked Nazim Miah in the kitchen of the Eastern Memories restaurant in Bridgtown, a jury was told. The waiter needed hospital treatment for his injuries.

by Laura Blyth

Stafford Crown Court was told how Babul thrust the knife into Mr Miah as the waiter stood aside to let the chef past.

When later interviewed by police, Babul claimed he had tripped and stumbled into Mr Miah.

Argument

The November 26 incident came just three days after the manager had to intervene when an argument escalated into a fight between the two men.

Mr Miah, aged 28, told the court on Tuesday: "I could see him coming towards me with the knife he was using to cut the meat.

"He came to the side of me and slashed me on right side of the stomach.

"He was just standing there as though nothing had happened."

Miss Lisa Hancox, prosecuting, said Mr Miah was left with a one inch cut to his side which was later glued in hospital.

She claimed there was 'ill feeling' between the men.

"The defendant had no reason to be crossing the kitchen, never mind with a dangerous implement in his hand," she said.

"The prosecution say it wasn't an accident he assaulted Mr Miah - he saw an opportunity and he took it."

Babul, aged 34, of New Mills Street, Walsall denies a charge of assault causing actual bodily harm.

The trial continues.

EATING OUT

Lack of sweets that left us all with bitter taste

ON THE face of it, Cannock's Orbital restaurant has a lot going for it.

In a prominent position on a major route, popular with families and attached to a Premier Inn, the restaurant has also undergone a recent refurbishment and launched a new a la carte menu.

Its main attraction, dining wise, is its chef's counter, an all-you-can-eat buffet from £6.49, or for children, £4.49. Every day has a different theme, with chip shop night on Monday and Friday, pie night on Tuesday and burgers and hot dogs on Wednesdays. Thursdays are curry nights, Saturdays are chicken feasts, with a Sunday carvery completing the line-up.

Packed

And with a varied a la carte menu, including selected meals at two for £10.99 and two desserts for two quid, diners do have a wide choice, one that includes snacks, starters, pub classics and grills. So what could possibly go wrong?

My family and I probably chose the wrong time to go, a Saturday tea time as it was packed with diners, many of whom were guests at the hotel.

A place was found for us among the throng, and at this point all was well.

Drinks were bought, including one that could be refilled for free, and the meals were ordered. Very nice they were too, with the other half and one son opting for the chicken feast, myself the lamb shank – delicious – and son number two for an 8oz rump steak done to his liking.

Meals finished, plates packed away – and readers may wonder where this is going – the desserts were ordered. But we left without having them.

Having waited what seemed like an age, the bar staff were given a reminder. When the puddings still didn't arrive in double the time, we could hang on no longer.

Shame, as I'm sure they would have been worth the wait, and would have certainly complemented the promising fare that went before. And it put a dampener on the whole experience.

Filter

The reason we were given was a problem with the printer, meaning the order did not filter through to the kitchen.

For me, or rather the boys that missed out, the biggest disappointment was that even when a reminder was given, no staff came to check what the order was, or to even apologise for the mix-up. At least until we came to paying the bill to the unsuspecting bar staff.

It was an incident that could have been avoided and took the gloss off what until then had been an enjoyable evening.

The Orbital Brewers Fayre, in Eastern Way, is open from noon to 11.30pm Monday to Saturday and until 10.30pm on Sundays. Call 01543 467574.

Protesters in rally cry over march for hospital

A RALLYING cry has been issued ahead of the second protest march against plans to down-grade Stafford Hospital.

A children's march will set off from Market Square at 2pm on Saturday, September 28, with campaigners expecting thousands to pound the streets – just five months after 50,000 took part in a demonstration in April.

The hospital faces losing its maternity unit and paediatric in-patient care while critical care will be downgraded under plans drawn up by administrators.

Support Stafford Hospital campaigner Cheryl Porter said: "It's the vulnerable people that are going to suffer if these services go, the pregnant women, babies and children."

Treated

"There are a lot of very frightened little children and they have to rely on the children's ward at Stafford Hospital and those that attend it regularly need those services."

The march will end in the field surrounding Stafford Hospital where a host of activities are planned to entertain the children.

There will be fairground rides, bouncy castles, slides, face-painting, a teddy bears' picnic and a live DJ and music for the teenagers.

A giant mural will be created using children's handprints to create a collage aimed at representing the support of the community for the services threatened by the administrators' plans.

Mrs Porter added: "The children of today are the people of tomorrow and that's why we need to protect their services now."

Campaigner Helen Simkins added: "We want to tell the country – and the Trust Special Administrator – how precious Stafford Hospital is."

Toddler group funds boost

A TODDLER group has received a funding boost of more than £2,000.

Bambino's parent and toddler group, based at Avon Business & Leisure Centre, in Avon Road, Cannock, received the money from the Community Development Foundation, together with help from Jan Mathews of the CVS.

The money will be used for new toys. Bambino's runs on Monday Wednesday and a Friday, from 9.30 to 11.30am.

Funding is secured for mining project

Executive director for culture Pete Gascoigne, museum services manager Susan Dalloe and Councillor Mitchell A PROJECT that will allow the community to find out more about the district's mining heritage is to benefit from a £97,600 grant from the Heritage Lottery Fund.

Mining Memories will provide a new, permanent coal mining gallery for the Chase community, allowing people to experience a 'day in the life' of a coalworker and explore features of the mines.

Residents will be encouraged to get involved by sharing their memories and other stories from the coal mining era for inclusion in the gallery, and volunteers will be recruited to help with this research.

Pete Gascoigne, executive director for WLCT, which manages the site, in Valley Road, Hednesford, said: "I am delighted that we have been able to secure this funding. "It is really important that we bring this history to life."

Councillor Christine Mitchell, culture and sport portfolio leader said: "The project will ensure that a vital piece of history is available for future generations to learn about the heritage of the district."

Parents win new inquest fight for son

THE parents of a cyclist who died following a blunder by doctors at Stafford Hospital have won a fight for a new inquest to be held.

John Moore-Robinson died in April 2006 after medics failed to spot his ruptured spleen following a mountain bike accident on Cannock Chase.

The 20-year-old was sent home where he bled to death less than 24 hours later.

The High Court has now granted Frank and Janet Robinson permission for a new coroner's inquiry. The narrative verdict returned at the first inquest, in 2007, has now been quashed.

Permission was granted in April for the couple to apply to the High Court for a new inquest after the Attorney General reviewed new evidence. This includes two damning reports which were not produced at the first hearing.

They concluded that the death was 'avoidable' and laid bare systemic failings at the very top of the hospital.

Mr and Mrs Robinson want both of these reports to be heard at the new inquest, which was opened in Leicester on Monday.

Mr Robinson said: "It's been a long battle but it's been worth it. All we've ever wanted is for the truth to come out."

The 61-year-old milkman, from Coalville, added: "It's been seven and a half years since my son died, and we are still waiting for justice to be done."

His son, a telecommunications worker, had been treated by a junior doctor in his second year of training, the Francis Inquiry into the hospital's failings heard.

Awards deadline extended

PEOPLE still have time to nominate their grandparent for a star award after the deadline was extended. YOUR CHILD IS UNIQUE - NORTON CANES HIGH SCHOOL IS TOO High Achiever Charley Haynes was amongst students celebrating their GCSE results at Norton Canes High School this year. Charley is entering our successful Sixth Form at Norton Canes to study Chemistry, Physics, Biology and Maths after achieving 2 A*, 5 A and a B.

Twice the number of students studied A levels at Norton Canes this year and achieved a pass rate of 100 percent beating the national picture! A higher percentage of students also achieved the higher grades of A* - B this year.

Many other students are to be congratulated on achieving high passes at GCSE, in particular in ICT, which boasts a 100 percent pass rate in the Level 2 ICT National Award (equivalent to 2 GCSEs), with 82 percent of students passing with a high grade. This success reflects on our specialist status in Mathematics and ICT, which enables us to provide outstanding facilities.

We are proud to announce that 98 percent of students achieved 5 or more GCSEs and are delighted to welcome a record number of students into our Sixth Form to continue their education at Norton Canes High School.

What makes Norton Canes High School unique?

We are a small school - this means we can offer a personalized and individual learning experience for young people that only a small school like ours with a totally dedicated staff can give. It can best be described as being part of a caring family, in which guidance and support are ever present, with all pupils being given the opportunity to achieve their highest possible aspirations that fully prepare them for adult life.

We are a specialist college for Mathematics and ICT, with outstanding results in these subjects. Our specialist status enables us to provide excellent facilities with the very latest technology. ICT enriches learning across the whole curriculum.

We foster positive relationships between teachers and students, a characteristic noted by OFSTED during their inspection in January 2013: "Students are prepared to work hard and have the confidence to succeed." We place a high priority on the spiritual, moral, social and cultural development of our students, and, as a result, they have a good understanding of how to communicate, behave and appreciate other cultures. They are "well-behaved, well-mannered and welcoming" and a "calm learning environment is evident" (OFSTED 2013).

Being small doesn't mean that we offer less than a larger school. Students are able to participate in a wide range of extra-curricular activities, and because we are small, we can deliver whole-school enrichment days and an annual cultural week where students are offered experiences outside the normal curriculum. Being small, we are able to hold whole-school and community events, for example sports day which reinforces a sense of belonging and community.

Uniquely, we were nominated as a pilot school to work with Yamaha's class band project, which is now entering its third year giving all youngsters an opportunity to enjoy ensemble playing with first class tuition. The sports facilities at Norton Canes High School are also outstanding, and we boast a purpose-built theatre which gives a professional environment where youngsters can perform.

In 2013 we were proud to unveil three new facilities: an 18-seater training hairdressing salon; a brand new, free to use fitness studio and an art gallery to display and encourage the talent of all of our students as we really do believe that every child matters.

Please visit us on a normal school day and see for yourself, we guarantee a warm and friendly welcome.

RECORD BREAKING EXAM RESULTS FOR THE RUGELEY ACADEMIES

2013 brought record GCSE and A level results for the Rugeley Academies. The hard work of the students, supported by dedicated staff, really paid off. It is absolutely clear that the academies have the academic rigour to bring success to all students.

Rugeley Sixth Form Academy students' results were much improved on previous years. This meant that every student has managed to obtain a place at the university of their choice. Mr Jos Ashley, Director of Sixth Form, was delighted with the results. He said "I am so pleased for the students. Their hard work has meant that they are now well placed to have extremely successful careers."

Hagley Park Academy improved their results for the fourth successive year. Mr Michael Astley, Headteacher, said that he was very proud of all the students. "In 2012 our students gained a big improvement in GCSE results but this year was even better, well done to everybody." 53 percent of students gained at least 5 A*-C grades at GCSE level, including English and Maths.

Mrs Taylor, Headteacher of Fair Oak Academy, was equally impressed by the results of her students. She said, "Following the Good Ofsted rating earlier this year, I am so pleased that Year 11 were really successful in their GCSEs. 64 percent of students gained at least 5 A*-C grades at GCSE level, including English and Maths.

However, although examination results are important, the Rugeley Academies firmly believe that their job is to support students into becoming good citizens of the future. We say to students "The best way to predict the future is to design it yourself" We therefore encourage students to be creative, thoughtful and considerate. We try to bring the best out of every student, supporting those who find learning difficult and also challenging those students who are very able. The number of A and A* grades this year is testament to the latter.

Rugeley Academies Vocal Ensemble perform at Disneyland.

Every student takes part in extra curricular activities and there is a huge range on offer from local visits to Tamworth Castle and Alrewas Arboretum, to Old Trafford and London. In July of this year, there was a hugely successful Paris tour by the Rugeley Academies Vocal Ensemble. They performed at Disneyland, outside the Notre Dame and underneath the Eiffel Tower. Everyone who took part thoroughly enjoyed the experience.

Outstanding learning deserves a vibrant learning environment and we are constantly upgrading our facilities. Over £1 million has been spent on our buildings in the last year alone. From September 2013, the Rugeley Sixth Form Academy has reopened in its own building on the Hagley Park site. It is an academic sixth form, concentrating on the excellent delivery of traditional A level courses. It will prove to be very popular.

With the excellent GCSE results at Fair Oak and Hagley Park, it can be said that The Rugeley Academies get the best out of all their students, they are focussed on high academic achievement and are now providing an education that all Rugeley families can be proud of.

Mini fans to gather in village for show

MINI enthusiasts will gather in Penkridge next week for the UK's largest showcase of the popular car.

The Big Mini Show will boast the country's largest display of the iconic British car, organisers have claimed, and is expected to attract owners and clubs from around the country.

It will take place on Sunday, September 15 from 10am to 4pm at Penkridge Market on Pinfold Lane.

There will be live demonstrations and entertainment as well as various products and services on sale.

Event organiser Tony Walker said: "We are delighted to put on this event, we want to bring a fresh approach and see customer engagement as key to the success of the show."

Tickets are £6 in advance from the www.thebigminishow.com or £8 on the door. Accompanied under-14s go free.

Parish council meeting date

THE next meeting of Penkridge Parish Council will be held next Wednesday, September 12.

It will take place at the Haling Dene Centre on Cannock Road at 7.30pm.

Customers bid fond farewell as stallholders trade for last time

HUNDREDS of people turned out to bid a final farewell to a couple who have traded at the heart of Penkridge Market for more than 30 years.

Graham and Moira Slade have now closed the doors for the last time at the main hardware stall SK Supplies Ltd, which the pair first set up as an outdoor stall in 1980. Their last trading day was on Bank Holiday Monday, August 26.

Since opening, the couple from Dunston Heath built up the business and made it into the biggest unit in the centre of the Pinfold Lane site.

But as the stall's 10-year lease expired this year, market management offered them a new three-year lease last month raising the annual rent from £11,960 to £18,000 – a move the Slades said made the business unviable.

Hundreds of customers turned out to bid the pair farewell, while fellow traders held a collection for the Slades and gave them a leaving card on departure.

Tears

The couple's daughter Katrina Slade, aged 24, has been going to the market with her parents since she was six weeks old. She said: "We were very sad to leave the market – it was quite an emotional day."

"That market is something I've always known, it was a part of my childhood. It's incredibly sad to have to give it all up."

"The last day was really lovely though and hundreds of customers came to say goodbye. It was really, really busy – there was hardly anything left by the end of the day. People were literally rushing in for their last chance to buy things."

"So many people said they said to see us leave and that it wouldn't be the same without us. People had so many nice things to say – they nearly reduced me to tears several times."

"The traders did a collection for us and gave us a leaving card too, which was really nice."

Her mother Moira has meanwhile thanked all the customers and fellow traders for their support over the last 30 years.

Children's half-term activities on offer

YOUNGSTERS are being encouraged to sign up for a range of activities on offer at Penkridge Leisure Centre next month.

The sessions, designed to keep youngsters entertained throughout October half-term, are available at the Cannock Road venue for children aged five to 12.

Activities running from October 28 until November 1, include archery, football, trampolining and there will also be an assault course.

They will take place between 10am and 3pm, although places are limited so booking is essential.

A family fun swimming programme has also been organised throughout the week from 10am until 12pm.

Children aged five to seven must be supervised.

For more information visit www.sstaffs.gov.uk/sussed or call 01785 714152.

Guest speaker at flower club

THE next meeting of the Penkridge Flower Club will be held later this month.

Lynn Wherrett will be the speaker at the Peace Memorial Hall in Pinfold Lane from 7.30pm. Visitors are welcome for a fee of £5.50 including refreshments

Heath Hayes Welcome Club members are pictured ahead of one their day trips to Rhyl in Wales

Chairman Bill Wyke and club members celebrate 60 years

Club has welcomed guests for 60 years

by Laura Blyth

IT ALL started in the front room of a Heath Hayes couple's home with just a handful of friends.

Decades on and the Welcome Club in Heath Hayes has grown far bigger than Thomas and Daisy Boot could ever have imagined.

Current members are preparing to celebrate the club's 60th anniversary with a whole day of activities.

Club chairman Bill Wyke, who has been a club member for 15 years, said: "It all started in Thomas Boot's front room in Hednesford Road. People at the time were just getting over the war.

"It was started up just so that people could meet up and catch up on the gossip."

"Now we have grown to having 55 or so members."

Months after the Welcome Club was officially founded, it then moved to a small building in the same Hednesford Road where it remains today.

Retired engineer Mr Wyke, aged 85, who lives in Hednesford, said: "It's great because it gets people out of their homes and gives them something to look forward to each week."

The day of celebrations is being held on Thursday, September 12. It will feature live entertainment and a buffet at the club from 10am to 4pm.

Grandson

A plaque donated by Heath Hayes and Wimblebury Parish Council to commemorate the day will also be erected on the building.

Thomas Boot's grandson Paul is a trustee of the club, which meets every Thursday.

In the past the club has organised day trips to Rhyl in Wales.

Restored Sunbeam to shine at auction

The restored Sunbeam car could fetch between £130,000 and £160,000

IT COST just a few hundred pounds when it was built right back in 1926.

But this perfectly-restored Sunbeam car is now set to fetch between £130,000 and £160,000 at auction.

The 1926 Sunbeam 3.0-Litre Super Sports 'Twin Cam' Tourer was built in 1926 and was one of only 305 such Sunbeams produced between 1925 and 1930.

Since then its value has rocketed and auctioneers are confident that classic car lovers will be prepared to dig deep and splash out up to £160,000 when it goes under the hammer at a Bonhams auction.

It has been put up for sale by Sunbeam enthusiast Professor Alan Richens, one of seven owners. The auction will be the National Motor Museum in Beaulieu, Hampshire, on Saturday.

A spokesman for Bonhams said the car represented 'the very pinnacle of engineering excellence in the Vintage Era' and that it 'exudes' period charm.

Prototype

Sunbeam, which originally made bicycles, was founded by Wolverhampton businessman John Marston in 1888.

In 1899, Marston moved his business to a larger factory, the Moorfield Works, at Upper Villiers Street, Wolverhampton, where he experimented with a number of prototype motor cars.

He decided in 1901 to make a prototype designed by Maxwell Maberley Smith, which was called the Sunbeam Mabley.

The formerly thriving motor factory in Wolverhampton has fallen into a state of disrepair and plans for its transformation have stalled amid struggles to find funding. Thousands of workers were employed at the 1890-built workplace in its heyday, making it one of the region's biggest employers.

Sunbeam closed in 1936 and Associated Motor Cycles took over the site in 1937, manufacturing radiators at the factory.

Production finished in 1999 with the loss of 60 jobs. In 2009, the site was snapped up by Manchester-based Urban Splash, which was also behind the Fort Dunlop development in Birmingham.

During the auction, a replica of the 1912 Sunbeam Coupe de l'Auto will also go under the hammer. The car is expected to fetch between £90,000 - £120,000.

NEWS

Let us spray for newcomers to join musical

Members of Stageworks that are putting on Hairspray and looking for new recruits to join the production

THE search is on for talented youngsters to take part in a new production of Broadway hit musical Hairspray, which is being staged in Wolverhampton.

Stageworks is holding auditions for the show on Sunday (September 8) from 11am to 3pm at the Windmill Centre in Windmill Lane, Wolverhampton from 11am-3pm.

The theatre company, which also has groups in Cannock and Kingswinford, is led by Jon Dempsey, of Cheslyn Hay, who reached the quarter finals of Britain's Got Talent in 2009 by performing a routine with a tap-dancing robot.

The 45-year-old said: "We are auditioning for all the parts. We want anyone to come along."

The musical has been specially adapted to be performed by youngsters but all the best known songs are still there.

Pub licences under review

FIVE pubs in Cannock Chase face having their licences reviewed after selling alcohol to under 18s.

Just two of seven pubs which were targeted in a police and trading standards sting requested ID from teenagers. They were The Vaults in Rugeley and Woody's Bar, Hednesford.

Officers from Staffordshire Police and Trading Standards sent two volunteers - aged 15 and 16 - into the pubs to find out if staff were asking for ID.

Licensing Sergeant Tracey Carsley said: "It's very disappointing that amount of licensed premises failed the compliance testing."

Dreadful

"Those who did fail will be put before the licensing committee at Cannock Chase District Council to have their licences reviewed."

"The sale of alcohol to children is something The Licensing Act considers to be a particularly serious offence. "Checking IDs is all part of a bar's licensing agreement. Most places operate an under 25 policy."

The results of the sting operation were branded 'absolutely dreadful' by Cannock Chase Council's leader George Adamson. He said: "They all know what the law is and they are putting their licences at risk. I think it's absolutely dreadful."

He added: "It's even worse that the volunteers were 15 and 16, and clearly under-age. These places can't be that desperate for business that they're willing to put their licences at risk."

Soldier killed after prank went wrong at army base

Lance Bombardier Dean Rathbone who was killed at the age of 24 after he fell through a roof at MoD Stafford

AN 'inspirational' young soldier was tragically killed at an army base when a practical joke went terribly wrong and he fell through the roof, an inquest heard.

Lance Bombardier Dean Rathbone, aged 24, plunged to his death at MoD Stafford in March, 2012, after scaling scaffolding to retrieve his beret from the roof of a building.

LtBdr Rathbone had been working for the Army's recruitment team during the week-long exercise in the days leading up to his death.

Following the exercise LtBdr Rathbone and his colleagues were in 'high spirits', the coroner's court sitting at Staffordshire County Council's Martin Street buildings heard last week. Lance Corporal Anthony Jenkins told the inquest: "Everything was coming to a close for the day and there was a bit of horseplay going on. One of the soldiers took Dean's beret from his head.

Scaffolding

"The beret got passed to me and Dean was chasing me around. I saw scaffolding in front of me, so ran up it and dropped the beret on to the lip of the roof.

"Dean came back and asked me where it was. He then walked over to the scaffolding and carried on to the top, stepping on to the ledge. He stepped on to the roof and started taking some steps. Dean then went out of sight and we heard a cracking noise and a thud the other side where he'd obviously hit the floor."

The soldiers carried out first aid before the barrack's medic arrived. Paramedics then took LtBdr Rathbone, who was from Edgbaston, to University Hospital of North Staffordshire, where he died six days later on March 15, 2012.

South Staffordshire coroner Andrew Haigh returned a verdict of accidental death.

LtBdr Rathbone's mother, Jemma Rathbone, of Kingstanding, said following the hearing: "Dean was a true inspiration to all who knew him.

"He was a lad who loved life and lived it to the full. I'll never get over the shock of Dean's death. I just miss him so very much."

Newman staging a return

New tour – Rob Newman

COMEDIAN, journalist, novelist and activist Rob Newman kicks off a brand new tour this month and will stop off in Wolverhampton and Birmingham.

After a seven-year absence from the stage, Rob Newman's Theory of Evolution begins its 22-date tour on September 12. It follows a sell-out London run.

Challenge

In the show, the funnyman details the 150-year controversy in evolutionary theory. His compelling and comical challenge to dominant theories promise to not only make audiences laugh, but to also leave them questioning life as they know it.

Newman made his name on The Mary Whitehouse Experience and as comedy partner to David Baddiel.

He appears at the Slade Rooms, Wolverhampton on September 22 (call 0870 320 7000) and the Mac, Birmingham on October 19 (call 0121 446 3232).

Strictly easy step to win tickets for charity show

IT'S Strictly Dancing with a difference and is guaranteed to put a spring in the step of six deserving charities.

Building on the success of their recent charity events Punjabi Wolves have organised Strictly Dancing with Wolves, a twist on the popular TV reality series. And a host of local personalities including, ex-Wolves player Mel Eves, Big Brother contestant Deana Uppal, BBC reporter Laura May McMullan, five-time world kickboxing champion Kirk 'Fire' Walker, Miss Teen Wolverhampton, Sasha Lyttle and other willing novice individuals.

They will be teaming up with local dance schools from around the Midlands to compete in the competition on Friday, September 27 at Wolverhampton's Civic Hall. And you could be there – the Chronicles are offering 10 readers the chance to win a pair of tickets.*

Dance schools taking part will be Zig Zag Dance Factory (Wolverhampton), Dance Warehouse (Birmingham), Premier Dance School (Stoke-on-Trent), Dance Magic (Wednesbury) and Eminence Dance Works (Dudley).

Executive

This event is set to raise awareness and funds for six charities supported by Punjabi Wolves – Promise Dreams, Leukaemia & Lymphoma Research, Queen Elizabeth Hospital Birmingham Charity, Royal Centre for Defence Medicine (RCMD), India Project & The Royal Wolverhampton Hospitals NHS Trust.

Ticket prices start from £12 for balcony seating, £29.50 for executive seats including a three-course meal and for those wanting a more VIP experience up close to the stars on the dance floor, £39.50. To book your tickets, email news@punjabiwolves.co.uk or call Midland Box Office: 0870 320 7000.

*To be in with a chance of winning a pair of tickets simply answer the following question.

What is the price of the VIP experience?
Send answers to Strictly Competition Chronicle editorial, 51-53 Queen Street, Wolverhampton, WV1 1ES. Closing date: Thursday, September 12. Usual rules apply. Editor's decision is final.

Taking the lid off Jam's classic LP

THE music of the mods and classic anthems of the new wave punk scene will soon be pounding out at two key Midland venues.

The Jam bass player Bruce Foxton and his band From The Jam will be performing the classic album All Mod Cons in its entirety at Birmingham Town Hall on September 19, then The Slade Rooms, Wolverhampton Civic Centre, on December 12.

Influential

The gigs are part of a three month tour marking the 35th anniversary of the seminal album's re-release in 1978 which spawned enormously influential tunes such as Down In The Tube Station At Midnight and A Bomb In Wardour Street.

Bruce says: "The energy in rehearsals is great and we're really looking forward to getting back on the road." The Jam exploded onto the punk scene in 1977 delivering their ferocious mission statement – debut single In The City – quickly establishing themselves as the sound of The British youth. In 2000, Q magazine placed All Mod Cons at Number 50 in its list of the 100 Greatest British Albums Ever.

A Jekyll & Hyde show

A MUSICAL version of the Robert Louis Stevenson classic Jekyll & Hyde is being performed in Cannock later this month.

The Backstreet Theatre Company is putting on the show at the Prince of Wales Centre, Church Street, from 7.30pm on September 26-28.

It tells the story of Dr Henry Jekyll who embarks upon a quest to cure mental illness in a bid to help his father. However, he unwittingly releases his own dark side in the form of Edward Hyde.

He finds himself loving two lives with two loves, the feisty and wild Lucy and the pure, refined Emma. Wreaking havoc on the streets of London, he battles with the murderous side of his inner self.

Tickets are £10 and available from the box office on 01543 578762 or from Caroline on 07970 968160.

Go Wilde for rock legend

ROCK n roll pioneer Marty Wilde performs at the Prince of Wales Centre, Cannock, on Wednesday, October 2.

Tickets for the 7.30pm show are £19.50. Call the box office on 01543 578762.

ITV, 9pm
We're constantly being told that exercise is good for us. However, being a sports fanatic doesn't seem to have done Gideon Frane any good. He's the latest victim whose death is investigated by DCI Vera Stanhope. Frane's charred remains are found after he fell from a Northumberland cliff top in a ball of flames, and it turns out he'd recently received a letter stating he should burn in hell. A further delve into his activities reveals his ex-girlfriend, Izzy Rawlins, had made several complaints against him, claiming he was stalking her. Is she behind Frane's demise?

Pick of the Week

There's news for the boys on the front line

Think of the First World War and what immediately springs to mind?

Probably the dirt, squalor and misery of life in the trenches, coupled with a massive loss of life.

There are certainly few laughs to be had whenever the conflict is mentioned – unless, of course, you're a massive fan of Blackadder Goes Forth. But that was a fictional sitcom, and the events depicted in this drama are true.

It focuses on Captain Fred Roberts and Lieutenant Jack Pearson who, in 1916, launched The Wipers Times, a newspaper that turned the horrors of warfare into black comedy and satire, raising the morale of the British Tommies who read it in the process.

This feature-length drama has been something of a labour of love for its writers, Private Eye alumni Ian Hislop and Nick Newman.

"Ian had done a radio documentary about the Wipers Times many years ago and he showed me the paper," says Nick. "But when we got talking about it, it was partly the collaboration and the way these two men worked together that intrigued us. So that was part of the springboard for our fascination with these stories; we imagined it was a bit how we work together."

"And it's the story about a satirical newspaper produced in 1916," adds Ian. "We both work on a satirical newspaper now. The truth is that theirs was funnier and much harder to do."

"We're doing it in Soho most of the time and they were doing it in the worst possible circumstances. They were incredible. To think that in the middle of it all they were sitting there writing jokes and then printing them up is just amazing."

Ben Chaplin plays Roberts who, at the start of the story, is leading his troops through a bombed-out building when he stumbles upon a printing press.

Coincidentally, his sergeant reveals he was a printer before the war, which inspires Roberts to use the press to produce a newspaper.

Called The Wipers Times (after the way in which British soldiers pronounced Ypres), it's full of jokes, pastiches and spoofs – an approach that upsets some of Roberts' superiors, but gets the full backing of a general who recognises its worth.

Michael Palin, Emilia Fox and Julian Rhind-Tutt also star in this tale which, at times, seems almost too bizarre to be true.

Nick explains: "We've been very lucky because we've got the original facsimile of the original Wipers Times in their entirety. Also we've got a memoir that Fred Roberts wrote long after the war. Everything in the story is true: there's a meeting with Churchill, there are spies, there's all kinds of detail, which was all absolutely true."

"If you watch the film and you think we've made it up, we won't have, it'll be true," claims Ian. "Roberts' life is extraordinary and he wins the Military Cross in the middle of the War for gallantry, just after producing a magazine at the Battle of the Somme."

There are great performances here, and plenty of stiff upper lips on show – expect to be moved, amused and left on the edge of your seat in equal measure.

Ben Chaplin stars in The Wipers Times, Wednesday, BBC2, 9pm

Best of the Rest

MONDAY

Doc Martin

ITV, 9pm

Port Isaac has been a favoured filming locations for years, thanks to projects such as Poldark, The Nightmare Man, and Oscar and Lucinda. However, in recent years the Cornish village has become synonymous with this series. "The number of people who come to see us now is phenomenal, particularly people from America," explains Martin Clunes. The latest good-looking offering should also attract plenty of viewers as the grumpy GP upsets the new childminder and is left holding the baby. Although Mike agrees to look after James at short notice, Louisa is far from happy with the arrangement, which leads to an argument between the newlyweds as their guests, Dennis and Karen Dods, turn up for dinner.

Blackout

Channel 4, 9pm

For some of us, even a 30-minute power cut is enough to send us into a panic, but what if the blackout lasted days – would we show a bit of Blitz spirit? That's the question posed by this drama, and the conclusions don't sound particularly reassuring. Drawing on expert advice and meticulous research, Blackout follows the first five days of a catastrophic nationwide power cut, caused by cyber attack on the national electricity grid. What makes the drama feel even more real is the use of 'found footage' as the cast, which comprises professional actors alongside members of the public, are filmed on mobile phones, laptops and camcorders – presumably charged before the outage.

TUESDAY

Live International Football

ITV, 7.15pm

Having faced relative minnows Moldova at Wembley Stadium on Friday in what should have been a straightforward affair, England face a much sterner test of their credentials this evening as they take on Ukraine at the Olympic Stadium in Kiev. This is the final away trip of the campaign for Roy Hodgson's men, who have hardly impressed on their travels, only managing to defeat Moldova and San Marino, and gaining draws in Poland and Montenegro. The sides met in their opening qualifier, when only a late Frank Lampard penalty salvaged a 1-1 draw for the hosts, after Yevhen Konoplyanka had opened the scoring in the first half.

The Great British Bake Off

BBC2, 8pm

This show doesn't just bring us an array of baked goods that look so tempting they make us want to lick the screen – oh no, it also provides us with a virtually non-stop stream of gentle innuendo. So, Mel and Sue should be in their element this week as the remaining contestants tackle tarts – well, anything that stops them sticking their elbows in the bakers' muffins, as they did a couple of weeks ago, is bound to be a bonus. The presenters will also be finding out more about the 700-year history of the English custard tart, which also happens to be this week's technical challenge, and leaves some of our hopefuls looking a bit wobbly.

WEDNESDAY

Big Star's Little Star

ITV, 8pm

Back in 1984, Michael Aspel hosted Child's Play, an ITV series which ran for 75 episodes and featured the hilarious observations of kids. (We suspect laughing gas was pumped into the studio considering the reactions of some of the audience members' reactions). That ran for four years and amazingly ITV bosses left the format well alone. However, this offering exploits similar themes designed to embarrass and delight semi-famous celebrities such as Sinitta. The occasional X Factor contributor/I'm A Celebrity... veteran will be appearing with her eight-year-old daughter Magdalena; Robbie Savage and his son Freddie, 7, and Duncan James plays the game with daughter Tiane-Finn, 8. Apparently the show will be 'filled with celebrity revelations, funny anecdotes and heart-warming moments'.

THURSDAY

Peaky Blinders

BBC2, 9pm

It's not every day that movie stars agree to appear in a BBC2 drama. But then it's not every day that a project like this comes along. Set in 1919, it was inspired by a real-life Midlands gang who sewed razor blades into the peaks of their flat caps so they could use them as weapons during any altercations with rivals or enemies. Cillian Murphy plays Tommy Shelby, who's been away fighting in the First World War. During his and his older brother's absence, their Aunt Polly (Helen McCrory), has run their dodgy family business. Now they're back, Tommy is determined to make the Sheldys the area's toughest, wealthiest and most ruthless family. Sam Neill plays the policeman ordered to bring the Sheldys to justice.

FRIDAY

Celebrity Big Brother: Live Final

Channel 5, 8.30pm

What a glorious series this has been, even if many of us may never have heard of Abz Love, aka Richard Breen (of boyband Five); Dustin Diamond (of cult US sitcom Saved By The Bell); TOWIE signing Mario Falcone; Georgie Shore's Charlotte Crosby; US model Courtney Stodden, and Dublin Wives' Danielle Marr, the first evictee. Genuine star Carole McGiffin has been one of the most entertaining, along with ex-Corrie thespians Bruce Jones and Vicky Entwistle; Sophie Anderton; Lauren Harries (aka former alleged child prodigy James), and camp hooper Louie Spence. However, Ron Atkinson seemed bemused by the whole affair. Now we find out who has made it to the final, and who will be the latest CBB winner.

Your essential guide to the world of motoring

Sit pretty with smaller and lighter C4 Picasso

Inside, with two big screens to look at and the possibility of adding a roof with so much glass it feels like living in a conservatory, the sense of style continues apace. Citroën licenced the Picasso name from the estate of the 20th-century artist (at a never revealed cost) and you hope he might approve, given the sign of the car wherever his spirit resides right now. Priced from £17,500 to £24,445, the car is the first Citroën built on a new platform (the most expensive piece of a car to design and build) that we'll see under lots of Citroëns and Peugeots in the years ahead.

The VTR+ plus trim will be the most popular choice in the C4 Picasso line and includes rear parking sensors and a DAB radio on top of cruise control, alloy wheels and dual-zone air conditioning. Practical aspects range from three same-sized rear seats that slide to increase boot room and a front passenger seat that folds flat.

Volvo dealership now getting ready for the new registration rush

Codsall-based dealership Brindley Volvo say this is one of the 'most exciting' times of the year.

As they prepared for the new 63 registration plate, Brindley Volvo's dealer principal Adrian Frearson stressed its importance to the market place shouldn't be underestimated.

"Volvo is increasing market share with the new Volvo V40 becoming ever popular as a five door variant," said Adrian.

"We have noticed that confidence is returning to the market place with people looking to replace their current vehicle due to the fantastic offers currently available throughout the range.

"In particular, finance and other payment options which now make it so easy to afford a premium brand that provides peace of mind with regard to safety and reliability – not to mention comfort. Over the past six months we have seen a steady growth in registrations and also increased interest in the brand as many people have switched from their existing marques to Volvo."

He added: "Following the large volume of new cars being delivered on September 1 we have various two and three year old low mileage, mainly one owner Volvos, arriving in part exchange and these offer fantastic value for money."

Car Supermarket opens up £8m dealership in the second city

THE UK's largest independent car supermarket has invested more than £8m creating its first site exclusively for customers in the West Midlands – creating 50 jobs.

The five acre branch, which is located on the Lichfield Road, just half a mile from junction 1 of the A38(M), houses 400 new and nearly new vehicles from over 30 different manufacturers. Prices start from as little as £4,999.

Motorpoint, recently named the Car Supermarket of the Year by Motor Trader magazine, has spent the last few months transforming the former Mercedes Commercial Vehicle dealership into its seventh site.

Competition And, to celebrate the opening of its new branch in Birmingham, Motorpoint is giving one lucky person the chance to win a Fiat 500 during its official launch on Saturday, September 14.

Visit www.motorpoint.co.uk and click on press for more details on how to take part in the competition.

Process

Founded in the late 1990s, Motorpoint already has a network of branches located in Burnley, Chingford, Derby, Glasgow, Newport and Peterborough. Last year, it sold over 31,000 vehicles, equivalent to one every seven minutes, saving £171m customers off list price in the process.

Headed up by John Hood, general manager and Mark Bradley, sales manager, Motorpoint expects to sell some 6,500 new and nearly new vehicles to customers in Birmingham in its first full year of trading.

Open seven days a week, including until 8pm weekdays, the branch also has plenty of free parking as well as free Wi-Fi and a café serving a selection of hot and cold food and drinks. John Hood said: "We have been looking to launch a dedicated site in Birmingham for a several years. When this opportunity arose we jumped at the chance to introduce our unique approach to car buyers in the city."

"The site went live in late July and has already proved extremely popular with over £2m worth of vehicles sold to customers from across the West Midlands in the first few weeks alone."

I held your hand and kissed you as you peacefully passed away, I'm left here broken-hearted, lonely without you, all I have are lovely memories Ron, I'm lost and missing you.

Your smiles that brightened up our days like sunshine from above, your thoughtfulness and most of all your love, I miss them every day.

Lockmen pay price of missed chances

Wellington 4 Willenhall Town 0

WILLENHALL lost this game because of the amount of chances they missed.

Danny Campbell hit the side netting early on for the Lockmen before he set up Eddie Wilson for a 30-yard effort that dipped over.

Another Wilson effort flew just over before Morgan saw two weak efforts blocked by the keeper before Simon Laidley forced a good save for a corner and Jamie Siviter fired at the keeper.

Apart from a second minute free-kick which hit the outside of a post the hosts had shown nothing until they scored on the half hour.

A break down the right saw Aaron Morgan played in and he fired home before a loose ball dropped to Saul Thomas to also fire home two minutes later.

The hosts killed the game with two more goals when Saul Thompson netted comfortably. Then a corner was headed home.

Willenhall are visiting Bartley Green on Saturday 3pm kickoff then Bilston on Wednesday, 10.45pm.

Cup tie set to kick off new season

AFTER matching themselves against Willenhall, Stafford and Rugeley in pre-season matches Burntwood get season 2013-14 underway with a county cup tie at home to Wednesbury this Saturday.

They welcome their Black Country rivals to The Sportsway for the quarter final of the Staffordshire Intermediate Cup with the kick off set for 3pm. A week later the same sides meet at the same venue to open their Midlands 3 West North league campaigns.

Burntwood Rugby Club hosts the Staffordshire Coaching Conference on Sunday, September 8 beginning at 10am.

Sessions will be run by England Women's assistant head coach Graham Smith, Alan Biggs, the RFU match official development manager, Eugene Martin, from the Birmingham/Solihull Club and Dr Ian Kenyon from Leeds University.

Cost is £5. Contact Lee Pearson on leefqw@hotmail.co.uk

Explosive TNT score 13 without reply

Cannock Chase Football League
Chase Cup round 1

THE game of the round saw First Division CK Courtyard's amazing recovery from five goals down at half time to knock out Second Division Slade 7-6.

Dan Lomas scored one, with the star of the day striker Ben Farrell scoring six goals.

Third Division King George V Casuals caused the upset of the round by knocking out First Division AFC Jubilee 4-3.

A double by Sam Whitehouse and a goal by Jimmy Scragg made it 3-0 at half time then a further goal from Corey Barnard completed the knockout. First Division TNT scored the most goals of the round putting 13 goals past a Fourth Division Cannock Ex.

Sloppy for Saddlers as home run ends

Walsall 0 Preston NE 3
SIMON Grayson's team were better than the sorry Saddlers in every department.

The hosts were out-thought, out-fought and out-fired as they collapsed to a first home league defeat since Swindon Town's visit last November.

Dean Smith was proud of his players after their battling performance in the Capital One Cup against Stoke City last Wednesday, but there was nothing to cheer here.

Three goals conceded, all thoroughly avoidable, allowed the impressive visitors to stroll away with the points but the scoreline did not flatter them.

After standing up to the visitors' physicality for the opening half-hour, Saddlers then gifted the Lilywhites the opener.

Keeper Richard O'Donnell will not be happy with the way he allowed Joel Byrom's free-kick to creep in at the far post after it had evaded everybody.

Then, young left-back Mal Benning, was found wanting as Chris Humphreys and former Saddler Lee Holmes added the second and third in three second-half minutes.

Dyke's call to arms on England fate

NEW FA chairman Greg Dyke delivered a "call to arms" as former England captain Tony Adams warned the national team was heading for "oblivion".

Adams claimed England are doomed to failure if Premier League clubs continue to favour foreign imports over home-grown talent as Dyke prepared to call for the whole of the English game to come together in support of the national side.

Dyke, who succeeded David Bernstein in June, wants more prominence given to the national side but former Arsenal star Adams said: "I used to think top-class foreign talent would have a positive effect on our young players."

"However, the reverse has become true, buying up all this foreign talent is like buying the England team a ticket to oblivion," added Adams.

Wood spring Leek's defence to progress

FA Cup Preliminary Round Replay.

Walsall Wood 2 Leek Town 0

WALSALL Wood marched into the next round of the FA Cup with a high octane victory over Leek Town in a replay.

Two goals that would have graced any stage in the football world, from Ahmet Bilgimer and Andre Gonzales just after the hour mark gave them a thoroughly deserved win.

Leek started strongly with ex Crewe striker Dan Shelley collecting a ball on the left of the box before firing an effort wide of the far post.

The Wood defence was under almost constant pressure for the first 15 minutes but without looking troubled, as the visitors played back and forth across the face of the 18-yard box.

It took Wood 18 minutes to mount a meaningful attack, Corey Currithers winning a right wing corner that was delivered into the box, Scott Cooper volleying wide.

Raced

Right on half-time a clever left wing move for Wood ended with Lewis Taylor Boyce firing inches wide.

Wood were first to threaten in the second half, on 47 minutes Gonzales raced clear on the right, crossed to the near post for Bilgimer to power a header inches wide.

Leek again started to build pressure on the Wood defence until on 56 minutes Steve Brannan flashed a cross shot across the goal, Hawkins heading clear.

Back came Wood, Currithers ran away from his marker and his low cross was inches in front of the despairing Bilgimer.

On 62 minutes Currithers wriggled out of an impossible situation wide right and played the ball inside to Bilgimer, who turned his marker before hitting a thunderbolt of a cross-shot that flew into the net off the far post.

Two minutes, Currithers again, this time left of centre, hit a superb cross-field ball to find Gonzales wide right. He raced into the box and buried the ball past the shell-shocked keeper to put Wood two ahead.

To their credit Town kept plugging away, Anthony Danylyk firing wide from 25 yards before Johnston crossed from wide right to the far post on 83 minutes and Bratt's header bounced to safety off the post.

Next it was Bell hitting a first time effort wide from yet another Johnston cross.

Wood are now through to the next round at AFC Wulfrunians on Saturday September 14.

Sako saga forgotten as winning spree goes on

Port Vale 1 Wolves 3

BAKARY Sako's absence from the Wolves squad was the big talking point prior to kick-off. By the final whistle, Kenny Jackett's side proved they can win without him.

The combination of a fourth consecutive victory, the ruthlessness of their finishing and a rousing performance overshadowed the Sako saga.

This follows his decision not to make himself available on Saturday because he didn't feel in the right frame of mind after Wolves rejected Nottingham Forest's bid for him.

Claim

But the players rejuvenated by this unbeaten start to the season suggested they can succeed without him at this level.

Carl Ikeme, Danny Bath, Richard Stearman, Zeli Ismail, Bjorn Sigurdarson, David Davis, Kevin Doyle and Leigh Griffiths all laid claim to the Man of the Match award.

But the man who was the glue that held it all together was Kevin McDonald, who ran from 10 yards inside his own half for his goal.

Meanwhile, Leigh Griffiths scored his fourth of the season, made the second and started the move for the Winning run keeps side at the top of table

Cannock 124-7 Aldridge 121-8

Cannock won by 3 wickets CANNOCK continued their winning run away to Aldridge to maintain their 34 point lead at the top of the table with two games to go. After being put in to bat, Aldridge found runs hard to come by thanks to accurate bowling from Cannock.

Aldridge openers Ian Keeling (34) and Chris Talbot (18) took the score past 50 before the introduction of Matt Bull and Keiran Squire saw wickets begin to fall, Bull returning figures of 4-31 and Squire 3-33.

Aldridge closed on 121-8 from their 50 overs.

Cannock's reply started even slower with the score on 36-3 after 20 overs. A solid partnership between Alex Beaman (25) and Ryan Peach (19) moved the score forward but once that partnership was broken the fall of further wickets saw Cannock on 70-6 from 35.

Aldridge looked favourites but Elliott Hortons 18, aided by Ant Wood, took the score past 100. Soon after Horton was caught in the deep with 16 runs needed.

A flurry of boundaries took Cannock past their target and Wood to 21 with five overs to spare. This Saturday Cannock play hosts to second-placed Whitmore Reans, and on Sunday they travel to Beacon to play Wolverhampton in the Staffs Clubs T20 KO final.

Reds lose in last minute

Willenhall Town 0 Black Country R 1

THE Lockmen produced an outstanding defensive performance but were undone by a simple header from a Rangers' corner in the last minute.

The visitors went close on several occasions without forcing a serious save from Jake Woodhouse in this West Midlands Premier match.

Then Willenhall's Aaron Hatfield rattled a post with a free-kick.

The visitors won a penalty midway through the half when a rash tackle brought down Nick Turton, but Woodhouse made a fine save from Jozsef Jakob's spot-kick.

But Jakob had the final word, making space at a corner and heading home a cruel winner.

Coach believes his side can go all the way

Linley 5 Cannock 25

CANNOCK started their Owen Cup campaign with a win.

The first 10 minutes was the best rugby this young crop of players has produced this season.

Steve Frost opened the scoring with an unconverted try.

Jon Freeman followed this up with another score under the posts and Pedley converted to give Cannock 12 points. He also added the next three points with a penalty kick.

From hereon in the home team worked hard to spoil any potential ball that Cannock may have had.

To their credit they did it well, they slowed up the play and the following 50 minutes was a learning experience for this developing Cannock squad.

They conceded ground and despite stout defence on the line conceded an unconverted try to make the score 5-15 at half time.

The half time conversation centred on how to prevent Linley spoiling clean ball from the set piece and the breakdown. Luke Jordan moved into the scrum-half slot and Joe Brookes was determined to win his second row shirt back. Linley started the half well; driving mauls being their attack of choice, one such maul carried them over the line only for the ball to be dropped at the clinical moment.

Rugby

As the half developed Cannock adapted their work at the breakdown to prevent Linley slowing the ball down, sending additional players to secure rucks and gradually the game became more open.

However, as Linley's ability to stifle the ball became limited so did their patience, for a 10 minute period the game became one of attrition, off-the-ball incidents becoming frequent. The ref had had enough, and players from both teams were given 10 minutes to reflect upon their conduct.

With ball being freed up Cannock were able to break free and set their backs lose once more, a penalty allowed Pedley to add three more points and in the final play of the game quick hands from the backs and good support lines from the forwards allowed Freeman to set up Ley just inside in the opposition 22, a strong hand-off on the 15 saw Ley stride under the posts to score under the sticks, converted. Stephen Frost was Man of the Match.

Coach Tomlinson said: "In the cup scenario, a win is a win; we look forward to the next round and believe we can go all the way this season."

Cannock Thirds lost out to a strong Uttoxeter Seconds side, by 10 points to 50

Cannock regularly field three senior sides as well as a vets team, have a developing ladies team who have tournaments scheduled for upcoming weeks and a junior section who train on Sunday mornings from 10am.

Title won after 17th success of season

Penkridge 1st XI 280-6 Kings Heath 1st XI 271-9 Penkridge won by 9 runs

PENKRIDGE were crowned Birmingham league division three champions with their 17th game of the season.

Penkridge made an impressive start with openers Attiq Chishti (75) and Ben Holmes (82) setting the platform for their side's 280-6 from 50 overs.

Kings Heath looked favourites at 214-3 but the reintroduction to the attack of Mohammed Murad (2-55) and Laeq Chishti (2-34) turned the game.

In the end, Kings Heath ended on 271-9 giving Penkridge a nine-run victory and another 20 points.

Stourbridge 2nd XI 185-6 Penkridge CC 2nd XI 189-4 Penkridge won by 6 wks

Penkridge are within touching distance of promotion, needing just two points from their final two games.

Stourbridge won the toss and elected to bat, reaching 185-6 off their 50 overs.

After losing two early wickets in reply, captain Rob Lawrence scored a run-a-ball century, supported by Ian Brown (33no) and Simon Parnaby (26no) as Penkridge cruised home with more than 13 overs left.

Penkridge 3rd XI 226-7 WB Dartmouth 3rd XI 109 Penkridge won by 117 runs Penkridge were indebted to Mo Hassan after they were put in. He hit 106 net out in a total of 226-7.

In reply West Brom were never in contention and were dismissed for 109.

Wolves not losing Sako

WOLVES rejected several multi-million pound deadline bids from Nottingham Forest at the 11th hour to keep Bakary Sako at Molineux.

In a frenzy of late activity before Monday's 11pm deadline, Forest submitted at least three offers, rising from £1.5m last Thursday, culminating in what is believed to be a final bid of around £3.5m.

All were for straight cash, not involving any other players. Each time, chairman Steve Morgan, chief executive Jez Moxey and head coach Kenny Jackett held firm.

They want to keep Sako in the hope he can help inspire Wolves back to the Championship.

League form left behind as Scholars win through

FA Cup with Budweiser Chasetown 3 Romulus 1
CHASETOWN put their indifferent league form behind them to destroy Romulus in a first half period which saw The Scholars 3-0 up at the half-time interval.

After a fairly placid opening 20 minutes, Chasetown took control and, midway through the half, on his full debut, Leigh Downing curled an effort inches wide.

It was Downing who gave Chasetown the lead just short of the half hour mark.

Paul Sullivan's shot was blocked by Rom's keeper Matthew Coton and when the ball came back to Sullivan, he rolled it in the direction of Danny Bragoli and Downing, the latter of whom shouted for the ball to be left for him and he netted his first goal for the club with a crisp shot into the back of the net.

Moments later, Nick Wellecomme's fierce drive cleared the outstretched hand of Coton but also narrowly cleared the crossbar as Craig Harris' men exerted their authority on the tie.

Romulus' token first half effort was a Tyrone Amory shot which was well wide, so it was no surprise when Chasetown deservedly increased their lead.

Danny Bragoli's free kick took to the edge of the area was met by a bullet header from Sullivan which rattled the crossbar and fell to a defender's foot who could only scuff it clear as far as Tesfa Robinson who slammed the ball home from close range.

The Scholars

Chasetown had promised a response to their poor early league form and had the game all but wrapped up before the break.

Louis Keenan sent a long ball over the top into the path of Sullivan who diverted the ball beyond the onrushing Coton.

Romulus, who came into this game unbeaten in the league, needed a response and Marcus Brown had a free header in the first three minutes of the second period but he directed it straight at Ryan Price.

Brown did make up with a consolation goal later on.

After three defeats, Chasetown fans may have been forgiven for being nervous and with 20 minutes on the clock another Roms goal might have made the game a little nervy.

But in truth Romulus rarely troubled Price. So 3-1 it was, sufficient to take the Scholars through to the prize of a home tie local derby with Stafford Rangers on September 14.

First blood to Wolves in pulsating Trophy tie

Wolves 2 Walsall 2
Wolves won 4-2 on pens
WOLVES scraped home in part one of the alternative Black Country derby.

But if this pulsating clash is a pointer of what is to come when the two neighbours meet in League One at Molineux in 13 days' time, the fans are in for a treat.

A healthy attendance of 13,481 were treated to a no holds barred thriller which saw Wolves edge home 4-2 on penalties after leading twice, only to be held back by an increasingly threatening Walsall who finished normal time on top.

Indeed, had this Johnstone's Paint Trophy first-round tie gone to extra-time rather than straight to penalties, the visitors were the team in the ascendancy to win it.

While Wolves should have held a more commanding lead than 1-0 at the break, Dean Smith's side were the better team once they equalised eight minutes after the interval.

And, as Wolves head coach Kenny Jackett acknowledged, his players were flagging towards the end in a team showing six changes from Saturday's 3-1 win at Port Vale.

Ultimately, former Walsall loan keeper Aaron McCarey

Wolves' David Davis celebrates his penalty shoot-out winner against Walsall became the hero after saving two penalties in the shootout, while the coolness of takers Bjorn Sigurdson, Bakary Sako, Matt Doherty and David Davis saw Wolves home.

There had been no suggestion of the Saddlers pushing Wolves to the limit early on as the hosts took a fifth-minute lead.

Liam McAlinden stabbed home from inside the six-yard box for his first senior goal after playmaker Kevin McDonald had worked the space. Out of the blue, Walsall equalised with their first serious attempt on goal. And it was the smallest man on the pitch - Hemmings - who dived to head them level in the 53rd minute.

Wolves looked to punish their League One neighbours on 63 after winning a penalty when Paul Downing shoved Bath to the ground as they challenged for Sako's corner.

O'Donnell saved Sako's driven spot-kick down the middle but was powerless to prevent him netting the rebound.

But Walsall were now snapping at Wolves' heels and they got their reward when substitute Troy Hewitt superbly volleyed inside McCarey's left-hand post after Doherty headed across his own box.

The spot-kick drama matched the action that preceded it, leaving everyone anticipating another humdinger in less than two weeks' time.

Late goal rescues a point in fightback

Heath Hayes 3
Highgate United 3

HAYES produced a gritty performance to come from two goals behind and deservedly take a point from second placed Highgate.

The visitors where quickly into their stride and took an eighth minute lead when Daryl Jones hammered home following a free-kick which cannoned off the wall and back to him.

Hayes were struggling to cope with the much vaunted Highgate frontline but out of the blue found themselves level.

Dan Lomas pumped a free kick from near the halfway line into the box and visiting keeper Shaun Edwards somehow punched the ball into his own net.

This gave Hayes the lift they needed and Dave Waple went close to giving them the lead with a powerful header. This time Edwards made a good save.

The second half began with Highgate racing into a two goal lead with two goals in as many minutes from much travelled striker Shane Benjamin.

Hayes replaced Dan Scragg with fit again Adam Langley and his pace immediately troubled the visitors.

On the hour a fine solo effort from Mitch Teece reduced the arrears.

Waple hit the bar but Lomas headed in a last-minute equaliser.

Young guns are spot-on WOLVES head coach Kenny Jackett hailed his young guns again after they came up trumps against Walsall.

Jackett handed full debuts to Aaron McCarey, Jack Price and Liam McAlinden in Tuesday night's Johnstone's Paint Trophy penalty shoot-out win.

Jackett's faith was rewarded as McAlinden scored the fifth-minute opener before McCarey saved two penalties in the shoot-out which Wolves won 4-2 after a 2-2 draw.

"We made six changes from Saturday and at times it showed defensively where we were disjointed," said Jackett. "But we did the job and I was very pleased to get through with some excellent penalties and two great saves from Aaron."

"Big credit to Aaron - it was his first appearance for us and as a young goalkeeper he was outstanding."

Nine tries as development team overcome

Rugeley 1sts 55

Burntwood Development Team 0

RUGELEY welcomed a development team from Burntwood rugby club for a game in the late summer sunshine at St Augustine's field.

The visiting team were under pressure from the young runners of Rugeley, so much so that within the first two minutes they had made an impression on Burntwood by breaking free and placing the ball over the try line - only for the match official veto it.

Burntwood were awarded a scrum which was turned over by Rugeley and with frustration conceded a penalty which the home side squandered. However, first team captain Nathan Homer ran 30 metres for the try line and put Rugeley's first of nine scores.

From the restart Rugeley were in complete control and David Bagnall soon raised the score to 10-0 after only 11 minutes.

Burntwood regrouped with some impressive set plays, but the Rugeley defence thwarted every attempt.

For the home side John Cliffe and Mathew Joss pushed forward to give Michael Wilkes the opportunity to put more points on the board with the conversion by Matty Keys.

Rugeley exploited Burntwood's lack of pace and fitness to take complete control of the game.

Following a tackle by Joss the ball was scooped up by Wilkes and with support play from Luke Pagett the ball was offloaded to Sam Cotter to score.

The second half started as the first ended with Rugeley in control.

Replacement Joe Payne stole the ball from the visitors to make a clean 35 metre run for the try line.

Burntwood continued to try to pull together some set pieces but found themselves pushed back at every opportunity.

Scores followed from Jack Richards with the conversion from Bagnall, Jamie Richer, Joe Payne and Bagnall and all converted by him.

The final score was 55-0 to Rugeley in what was a pleasurable game to watch. In spite of the scoreline, Burntwood played an impressive and at times an effective game but Rugeley were without doubt the superior side.

Man of the match was David Bagnall for his effective contribution to the day's proceedings.

Smith in running for prize

HEDNESFORD Town's dream start to life in The Skriff North has seen manager Rob Smith rewarded with the August Manager of the Month award.

The Keys Park outfit have now gone 21 games unbeaten but Smith was keen to stress he has his players to thank.

"This is down to the players. Our aim right from the first training session was to try and get points on the board early and they have achieved that," he said.

"The points tally is certainly more than we targeted, but they are very welcome all the same."

There is often a claim that an award for Manager of the Month is swiftly followed by a downturn in form, but Smith was philosophical about The Pitmen facing one of the toughest away trips of the season to North Ferriby United on Saturday.

"I'm not a manager who believes that myth at all. It just happens that we have the hardest opposition possible away on Saturday."

For fans keen to travel, spaces are still available on the supporters coach priced at £17.50 adults, £14.50 concessions departing Keys Park at 10.30am. Call Ken Leese on 07935723290.

HIGH FIVES AS THE PITMEN TOP TABLE

Hednesford Town 3 Barrow AFC 1
FIVE games into the Skriff North season and Hednesford Town proudly sit at the top of the table.

Pitmen supporters couldn't really have dreamed of a start to the campaign like this and, although it is early days, a 3-1 victory over Barrow AFC that were in the Conference Premier last season will certainly raise hopes of the good form continuing.

After a fairly even start Barrow had a good chance to take the lead in the ninth minute.

Francino Francis kneed the ball back to goalkeeper Dan Crane but this was deemed as a back-pass by the referee and the away side were awarded a free-kick five yards from goal.

They were unable to take full advantage, though, as the ball was eventually blasted into the side netting.

Dusted

Town were able to edge ahead in the 15th minute when Elliott Durrell was brought down in the penalty area by Robbie Williams.

The midfielder dusted himself down and coolly converted his third penalty of the season.

Three minutes later it was 2-0. After good link-up play on the touchline Jamey Osborne's ball into the box was deflected into the path of Dave MacPherson who slid the ball home under the advancing Tony McMillan in the Barrow goal.

This brought the Cumberland side to life and they almost found a way back in the 21st minute only for Durrell to clear a downward header off the line.

Three minutes later they reduced the arrears though when Dale Johnson headed home at the second attempt after his first effort had struck the upright.

Both sides continued to attack at pace and with chances arriving at both ends.

First Neil Harvey headed wide at the back post for Town before the lively Greg Mills dragged an effort past the post on the stroke of half time for the Bluebirds.

It was the visitors who began the second half the stronger as they tried to find an equaliser.

However The Pitmen were to make it 3-1 in the 58th minute.

A ball into the box was flicked on by Wayne Riley and Harvey was on hand with a sweet left-footed finish for his first goal of the season.

This really seemed to knock the stuffing out of Barrow who failed to make hardly any clear-cut chances on the Hednesford goal in the final half an hour and the Pitmen saw out time to record another impressive victory over a side that just a few months ago sat some two divisions above them.

The Pitmen travel to North Ferriby United on Saturday (September 7), kick off 3pm.
